M'ADOO PROMISES FULL SUPPORT

CALIFORNIAN TO HELP DAVIS IN THE CAMPAIGN

Defeated Candidate For Nomination, Before Sailing, Formally Pledges Aid To Democratic Ticket.

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK July 12 — W G McAdoo, in a statement issued today said that he would give John W Davis his cordial support and take part in the campaign

"I am satisfied that Mr Davis is in full accord with the progressive program outlined in the democratic platform," said Mr McAdoo "I am confident that as president he would faithfully execute the party's mandate"

Referring to criticism from some quarters against Mr Davis because of his connections with certain interests as a lawyer Mr McAdoo said

Mr Davis high character integrity and services should satisfy every apprehension of this sort

If I did not believe this continued Mr McAdoo I could not render aid because I have always believed that the interests of the people should never be subordinated to a merely slavish partisanship The influence and power of these progressive forces must not be dissipated by division between various political movements They must rather be consolidated and used like an irresistable battering ram of that party which offers the best instrumentality for service to the people

Text Of Statement

Mr McAdoo's statement in full was as follows

Mr Davis and I have been friends for the past twelve years and I had the pleasure of discussing the political situation with him yesterday The body of democrats who supported me so strongly in the convention have been anxious to know my attitude toward Mr Davis candidacy My visit was for the purpose of learning from Mr Davis his views on the important issues before the country I am satisfied that he is in accord with the progressive program outlined in the democratic platform

[illegible] professional connections and his associations with great banking houses and corporate interests although considered ethical in every way have raised doubt in the minds of many as to his progressivism and as to his complete sympathy with the great reforms the democratic party must execute if it is to serve the genuine interests of the people

These doubts are not justified because a lawyer's views on economic political and social questions are no more to be judged by his professional associations than are a physician's to be judged by the character of his patients Mr Davis should be judged by his opinions not those of his clients and by the impression of sincerity and ability he creates in the public discussion of the issues

Praises His Integrity

Mr Davis high character integrity and service should satisfy any apprehension of this sort I am confident that as president he would faithfully execute the party's progressive mandate If I did not believe this I could not render aid because I have always believed that the interests of the people should not be subordinated to a merely slavish partisanship

There is a deep seated determination on the part of the progressive forces within the democratic party and those outside of it desiring to cooperate to force prompt and decisive action on the part of the next administration for solution of the pressing problems of agriculture transportation tariff taxation and foreign relations which have been so horribly mishandled by the republican administration

The influence and power of these progressive forces must not be dissipated by division between various political movements they must rather be consolidated and used like an irresistible battering ram of that party which offers the best instrumentality for service to the people

Scores Republicans

Clearly there is not promise in the republican party Clearly there is promise in the democratic party if this progressive influence is wisely and vigorously used in connection

SLEEP SCARCE AT DEMO CONVENTION SAYS KATLEMAN

Whole City In Uproar: Governor Bryan Given Thunderous Applause.

Nebraska Delegates Favor Tom Allen On State Ticket, He Says.

Max Katleman who was assistant sergeant at arms for the Nebraska delegation at the New York convention returned to Lincoln at 1 50 a m Saturday Although he admitted that it was every bit as strenuous as pictured in the press reports he seemed to have recovered the sleep which he lost during the days of the deadlock

We went for days and nights with no more than a few winks of sleep Some of the delegates who were in the center of the fight didn't get any The Nebraska delegation headquarters was in the Pennsylvania hotel but many of them left there when the deadlock settled down to take rooms in more quiet places The whole city seemed to be in a continual uproar Mr Katleman said

The climax of the whole thing came when J W Davis was finally nominated he said It looked then as though the convention would nominate Walsh and adjourn on the spot Walsh had a difficult time getting them to settle down and think over the vice presidential nomination

When Governor Bryan was nominated the convention went up in a din Mr Katleman said I never heard such a round of applause in my life Then came the adjournment which was not more than two minutes following the announcement that Bryan was chosen

Everyone seemed satisfied over the two nominations and the sentiment pointed plainly to the solid support of the entire party for the ticket he said

The talk Governor Smith gave following Davis nomination was typical of the good fellow that he is

One can easily understand the loyal support given Smith after being in New York a few days He is literally worshiped by practically every New Yorker They fought their hardest to nominate him

There has been some misunderstanding I believe as to the hospitality of that city and its people The delegates could never hope to be treated more loyally than they were The few disagreeable instances which seem to have gained much publicity should not be credited to the entire city he continued They were strong for their man and could not see why everyone should not be

The hottest fight of the whole convention was over the Klan issue Mr Katleman said

Tom Allen seemed to have the popular support of the Nebraskans in New York to fill the vacancy on the democratic state ticket which will come with Bryan's withdrawal Mr Katleman said

Opposed Invisible Empire.

Rev. Van Loon on several occasions has spoken from his pulpit against the Ku Klux Klan and his friends said today he had received a number of threatening notes.

Dr. A. F. Kingsley, who was called by the hospital to treat the pastod, reported to police that in his opinion the three "K's" had been burned into Rev. Van Loon's back by hot metal. There were burns and blisters, too, he said, about the face and hands, but there were attributed to Rev. Van Loon's nervous condition, due to his experiences during his absence.

A mysterious telephone call in a woman's voice led to the finding of Rev. Van Loon. The woman said a man had just collapsed from the heat at a certain street corner. She refused to give her name.

BRYAN MEETS PARTY LEADERS IN WASHINGTON

Vice Presidential Nominee Confers With Chairman Hull of Democratic National Committee About Coming Campaign.

LEAVES FOR HOME SATURDAY NIGHT

One of First Acts Will Be to Notify State Central Committee That It Must Name New Candidate For Nebraska Governor.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Governor Bryan of Nebraska, democratic presidential candidate, spent today in Washington, attending to semi-official matters and incidentally conferring with Chairman Hull of the democratic national committee about the national campaign. He intended to leave for his home, traveling by way of Chicago, tonight, and declared that one of his first duties would be to notify the Nebraska state democratic committee that it would have to select a new candidate for governor to run this fall.

"I can't be running for two offices at once," the governor observed, "although just before the national convention met at New York I had been given a renomination for governor.

"Until the campaign is formally launched, I am refusing to discuss national political issues for publication. Some newspaper interviews purporting to give my political platform are based on campaign speeches and literature which marked the primary fight over the governorship. They consequently give my views on political affairs in Nebraska, my own state, correctly, but they should be understood to have that limit. As to national affairs, I have nothing yet to say."

W. J. Bryan, the governor's brother, was in Washington last night and the two met briefly. The elder Bryan, however, left later for St. Louis.

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, July 12.—Mary Anderson, alias Grace Asbury of Davenport, Ia., arrested early today after a chase and firing of shots during which her male companion leaped out of an automobile, allowing it to carry her into a ditch, admitted today that she was a member of a bandit gang that shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Ernest Miller at Frankfort, Ill., Will county last night.

She confessed that they planned to rob the Frankfort State bank, according to Chief George Weidling of the county highway police.

Miller surprised the band in their preparations to rob the bank and was shot down and the robbers escaped . The woman told police a man named Ralph Johnson, alias Robertson, was her companion, and said two other robbers occupied a second car. She denied that she or Johnson fired any shots.

When their car was pursued by motorcycle police, Johnson jumped out of the machine, which ran into a ditch, injuring the woman. After telling her story she was turned over to the Joliet police.

Mr. Jackson has twice been speaker of the lower house of the legislature and was vice president of the constitutional convention. He is at present president of the state agricultural board.

"He is in close touch with more farmers than anyone else I know of,' said Mr. Craddock. "He is the sort of a man who would rather build up the tsante than a party."

He never regained consciousness after the accident because of a terrific head blow which inflicted a deep gash in his forehead, but doctors considered he had a chance for recovery.

Matthews, who was 19 years old, was the only son of Cecil Matthews, state inspector under the department of agriculture, and as editor of the Blue Hill Leader had the reputation of being the youngest editor in the state.

Funeral Sunday.

Word of the death of Cleo Matthews was received at the office of the department of agriculture at the state house The funeral will be held Sunday at 2 p. m.

FATALLY HURT BY A BINDER

August W. Schuelke, 52, Succumbs to Injuries Received In An Accident On His Farm Near Greenwood.

SON IS THE ONLY WITNESS TO TRAGEDY

Father Crushed When He Crawls Under Machine to Grease It—Tractor Draws Binder Over Victim.

August W. Schuelke, 52, a farmer, died at his home Saturday morning of injuries received when a binder drawn by a tractor ran over him Friday at 4 p. m. on his farm three miles south of Greenwood. His collarbone, one arm, and three ribs were broken, and a deep gash cut under one eye. He also suffered serious internal injuries. Dr. A. L. Emery of Waverly, who attended him, said. A son who had been driving the tractor was the only witness of the accident.

The tractor was running in neutral, the son said, and had started to oil it. It was still connected to the binder which his father had been operating, and the father had crawled under the machine to grease it, when the tractor shook itself into gear and drew the binder over Schuelke.

Fred, the oldest son, was with his father in the field when the tragedy occurred. Schuelke's whole chest was crushed beneath the platform of the binder, Dr. Emery said.

He leaves his wife, two daughters, Sophie and Hannah, and three sons, Fred, William and Clarence. He had been farming for a number of years.

The body will be brought to Castle, Roper & Matthews' Saturday afternoon. Funeral announcements will be made later.

SLEEP SCARCE AT DEMO CONVENTION SAYS KATLEMAN

Whole City In Uproar; Governor Bryan Given Thunderous Applause.

Nebraska Delegates Favor Tom Allen On State Ticket, He Says.

Max Katleman, who was assistant sergeant at arms for the Nebraska delegation at the New York convention returned to Lincoln at 1:50 a. m. Saturday. Although he admitted that it was every bit as strenuous as pictured in the press reports he seemed to have recovered the sleep which he lost during the days of the deadlock.

"We went for days and nights with no more than a few winks of sleep. Some of the delegates who were in the center of the fight didn't get any. The Nebraska delegation headquarters was in the Pennsylvania hotel but many of them left there when the deadlock settled down to take rooms in more quiet places. The whole city seemed to be in a continual uproar," Mr. Katleman said.

The climax of the whole thing came when J. W. Davis was finally nominated," he said. "It locked then as though the convention would nominate Walsh and adjourn on the spot. Walsh had a difficult time getting them to settle down and think over the vice presidential nomination.

"When Governor Bryan was nominated the convention went up in a bang," Mr. Katleman said. "I never heard such a round of applause in my life Then came the adjournment which was not more than two minutes following the announcement that Bryan was chosen.'

Everyone seemed satisfied over the two nominations and the sentiment pointed plainly to the solid support of the entire party for the ticket, he said.

"The talk Governor Smith gave following Davis' nomination was typical of the good fellow that he is."

"One can easily understand the loyal support given Smith after being in New York a few days. He is literally worshiped by practically every New Yorker. They fought their hardest to nominate him.

"There has been some misunderstanding, I believe as to the hospitality of that city and its people. The delegates could never hope to be treated more loyally than they were. The few disagreeably instances which seem to have gained much publicity should not be credited to the entire city," he continued. "They were strong for their man and could not see why everyone should not be."

The hottest fight of the whole convention was over the Klan issue, Mr. Katleman said.

Tom Allen seemed to have the popular support of the Nebraskans in New York to fill the vacancy on the democratic state ticket which will come with Bryan's withdrawal, Mr. Katleman said.

BRYAN COMING HOME MONDAY

Nominee For Vice Presidency to Be Escorted to Mansion Following Demonstration at Burlington Depot.

Governor Bryan will reach Lincoln at about 10:30 Monday morning, according to a telegram which was received by his secretary, F. C. Radke, Saturday morning. The telegram was dispatched from Washington, D. C., at 6:12 a. m. and it stated further that the governor would make no public speeches until after he had been officially notified of his nomination.

Upon his arrival in Lincoln at 10:15 a. m., over the Burlington from Chicago, a demonstration will be staged at the depot and the vice presidential candidate will be escorted to the executive mansion. A committee representing the chamber of commerce and the civic and patriotic organizations of the city will meet the governor at Ashland and come to Lincoln on the same train with him.

Letters and telegrams of congratulation from all parts of the country continue to pour into the executive office. Among the letters received Saturday morning was one from Fred G. Johnson, lieutenant governor, and acting governor in the absence of Mr. Bryan. Mrs. Johnson joined in the felicitations.

One of the telegrams received Saturday was from J. O. Davis of Berkeley, Cal., and another was from Miles E. WHEAT HARVEST IS SATISFACTORY

Yield Is Reported Above Average and Quality Better Than Usual.

(Special to The Star.)

OHIOWA, Neb., July 12.—Wheat is all cut in this vicinity, and all shocked, very few farmers stacking their wheat. Nearly all the oats are cut and shocked, and is is expected to begin threshing next week. Practically every farmer claims a better yield around here than last year, and the grain is of an excellent quality. It is figured that the entire wheat crop will average as high as twenty-five bushels to the acre, many fields returning a considerably higher figure than this. Corn here and west is backward and the growth is small. Most of it was in very late on account of the continued adverse weather in the spring. Some of it is so late that it may not even have time to mature properly. Corn is better east and south of here.

FOREST FIRES STILL RAGING IN THE WEST

Thousands of Acres of Timberland Destroyed In California and Montana ---Hold Suspected Firebugs.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—Three alleged firebugs were under arrest today, suspected of having started the conflagration in the Santa Barbara national forest which today is raging over an area of fifteen miles, completely out of control.

Rewards up to $500 have been posted by the United States forestry service for the arrest and conviction of arsonists in the belief that possibly two of the three major fires which today are sweeping through seven California counties may have been of incendiary origin.

With more than 1,000,000 acres of federal timber land closed to the public and intimation from government officials that 2,000,000 additional acres may be closed today, California was in the grip of one of the greatest fire disasters in its history.

Thousands of men or "on the line," hundreds of whom have been conscripted in an effort to stem the advance of the various blazes.

The men under arrest are former employes of the Radium Hot Springs resort. They are held in pail at Newhall.

In Tulare county the Sequoyah national forest continued to be swept by the disastrous Bull Run fire which already has devastated 30,000 acres.

The Tahoe national forest was also menaced again by the fire which blazed up anew yesterday and today was again out of control.

Sierra, Shasta and Siskiyou counties were the scenes of other fires.

Says Situation Dangerous.

MISSOULA, Mont., July 12.—More than 400 men today were fighting what was declared by forestry officials to be the most dangerous forest fire situation in many years in the forest reserves of western Montana

Thirty-three hundred acres of valuable timberland have already been completely destroyed, reports said, and numerous fires continued unchecked.

The Bear Creek blaze in Nez Perce reserve has cleared 1,800 acres; the Fly Creek fire has ruined 1 000 acres, and a new blaze near Alberton has destroyed 500 acres.

Weather conditions today were reported unfavorable and there is a lack of sufficient rangers and volunteers to combat the spread of the flames.

(Associated Press.)

BUENOS AIRES, July 12.—Four hundred civilians have been killed during the fighting in the Sao Paulo insurrection, according to reliable advances from Santos, giving the American consul there as authority for the estimate of the dead.

A virtual state of civil war appears to have resulted from the insurrection at Sao Paulo, with the "provisional government" established by the rebels opposed to the federal government at Rio Janeiro.

The strict censorship, which is in effect, prevents an accurate appraisal of the situation, it was said.

DECREASED TRADE THROUGHOUT LAND

Federal Reserve Board Declares Volume of Production Much Smaller.

Less Industrial Activity and Lower Prices in Business Readjustment.

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 12—An important readjustment of business conditions characterized by decreases in industrial and trade activity and lower prices was declared by the federal reserve board last night to be under way throughout the United States

The board called attention to reduced earnings by industrial workers with a consequent curtailment in their buying power and sharp decreases in production The lowered prices have carried to every commodity except food which remains almost unchanged

The considerable expansion of production during the early months of 1924 the board said "was followed by important curtailment in certain industries in response to a lessened volume of current purchases and a hesitancy on the part of manufacturers in placing forward orders In fact there has been in recent months larger decrease in production of certain commodities than in their current consumption and in consequence stocks of these commodities have been reduced

The concessions in business activity have been accompanied since April by a decreased demand for credit for commercial purposes and this together with the continued flow of gold imports has brought about an unusual ease in the money market The decrease in the volume of the borrowings however has been less than the additional purchases of investments by commercial banks so that the total of member bank credits in use is not only larger than at the beginning of the year but larger than in any previous period

In connection with the credit situation the board said that the earning assets of the twelve federal reserve banks were lower at the beginning of this month than at any time for six years They were approximately $225 000 000 below the figures of the same date last year

Practically all important industries show decrease in employment in the last two months as compared with a year ago

FORMING CENTRAL FARM FEDERATION

Conference of Agriculturalists Unable to Decide How to Organize.

(Associated Press)

ST PAUL July 12—Although agreeing that farm relief legislation is necessary and that an organization similar in scope and power to the American Federation of Labor is needed to carry on its work members of the resolutions committee of the National Conference of Farm Organizations were unable to determine yesterday how such a central organization should be formulated

While the resolutions committee was in session several hundred delegates to the conference which opened a two day session here yesterday were meeting elsewhere discussing different phases of the agricultural situation

In the debate before the resolutions committee of which William Hirth of Columbia Mo is chairman it was contended by several of the members that a central committee formed of delegates from every state and representing all farm organizations should formulate any legislative action to be taken in the interests of agriculture

Some opposed to this proposition claimed that the central committee should be elected only from the farm laborers and should act only in the capacity of a mouthpiece for the organizations now existing

Lack of co operation among the national leaders had been charged by the farmers according to Carl Gunderson of Mitchell S D

Text of Tentative Agreement Drawn Up By Macdonald and Herriot.

French Senator Declares Dawes Plan Justifies Cut of Nation's Debt.

(Associated Press)

PARIS July 12—The joint text drawn up in Paris by Prime Minister Macdonald and Premier Herriot during their interview in connection with the inter allied London conference represents all the progress that has been made toward an accord between France and Great Britain the French premier declared before the senate yesterday explaining his negotiations with the British prime minister He said that the Chequers interview bound neither country

Replying to an interruption concerning Mr Macdonald s declarations in the house of commons in the inter allied debts problem M Herriot repeated the substance of the Chequers conferences which was confirmed in the joint text of the Paris interview in the course of which Mr MacDonald agreed that both governments should study the question in a spirit of equity

Senator Dausset who preceded M Herriot declared that the Dawes plan surely reduced Germany's debt to the allies and that the French consequently would be justified in asking a reduction of her inter allied war debt He asked the premier if he was taking steps in that direction

M Herriot answered that he was powerless on the question of the war debts and could only appeal to the spirit of equity of the allies which he had done at Chequers

Want To Rebuild Elevator at Rulo

L. L. Coryell & Son have filed formal complaint with the state railway commission against the Burlington railroad company. The complainants have for a number of years been engaged in the grain business at Rulo, their elevator being located about a mile and a half south of the station. Recently this elevator burned. It was on ground which complainants leased from the railroad company and the latter has refused to allow the rebuilding of the elevator on the old site, stating that it proposed to abandon that track.

Complainants allege that the railroad people want them to use another elevator in another location, not nearly as accessible as the old one, and it is further declared that the road is attempting to discriminate in favor of the Central Granaries company, a competitor.

An order is asked allowing the rebuilding of the elevator on the old site.

Railroad Ordered To Lower Rate On Sand

The state railway commission has made an order directing the Chicago & Northwestern railroad company to put into effect a rate of 3½ cents per hundred on sand and gravel from Morse Bluff to Lincoln and Omaha. This supercedes the 4 cent rate which has been in effect and is made upon the application of the Moffitt Sand & Gravel company, which recently opened pits at the point mentioned.

The rate to the two larger cities, which are the heaviest consumers of the output, is 3 cents within a zone of 50 miles, but Morse Bluff is just outside this 50 mile zone. The Moffitt company complained that it could not compete with other producers if compelled to pay the 4 cent rate and asked a reduction to 3 cents, but the commission thought that a half cent reduction would be fair.

Griswold Awarded More Compensation

Arthur C. Griswold has been given an award for additional compensation against the Employers Liability company, by Compensation Commissioner Frye. Griswold was in the employ of the Hardy Furniture company of Lincoln, which was insured by the liability company mentioned, when on October 19, 1921, he stepped from a porch and injured his right foot. He was paid compensation at the rate of $15 per week for six weeks, but since that time he has had trouble with the foot at frequent intervals and it is found that there is a fifty percent disability, which did not become fully apparent until February 1, 1924. The defendant pleaded the statute of limitation, but the commissioner rules that this does not begin to run until the disability culminates, which in this case was on February 1 of this year. An allowance of $15 per week for seventy-five weeks is made

The application for compensation of Boris Minkin against the Beaton Drug company of Omaha has been dismissed by the commissioner. The applicant worked in defendant's drug store and complained that the continuous work was so heavy that it had broken him down, causing him to be a nervous and physical wreck. It is held that there is no evidence of any accident, and that the impairment of one's health, where there is no accident, is not compensable.

CAPTAIN KILLED BY RUM PIRATES

Reported to Have Boarded Ship and Taken $500,000 Liquor Cargo.

Insane Sailor Runs Amuck With Axe and Chisel On Another Vessel.

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 12.—Following a Halifax report that the French steamship Mulhouse was boarded off the New Jersey coast two weeks ago by rum pirates who took charge of liquor valued at $500,000, prohibition officials here received word that a second ship also was boarded by pirates, who killed the captain and threw his body overboard. The identity of the steamship was not revealed.

The raids were directed by one of the biggest bootleggers in this country, in retaliation for the cutting of rum prices by the foreign ships, said the report. The seizure on the second ship was said to have consisted of whiskies, brandies and cordials valued at more than $250,000.

French consular authorities at Halifax are investigating the raid reported by Captain Ferrene of the Mulhouse, which put into Halifax on Tuesday.

Crew Is Rescued.

SYDNEY, N. S., July 12.—Police answering distress signals flown by the rum runner Annie S., as she crept into port yesterday, rescued the crew from an insane sailor, armed with an axe and chisel, who had taken command of the vessel.

The single handed mutiny was staged by Lewis Quelleon of St. Pierre, Miqelon. According to Captain White, the Annie S. Quellon ran amuck soon after the vessel left the island, bound for the American coast, with a cargo of assorted liquors.

DECREASED TRADE THROUGHOUT LAND

Federal Reserve Board Declares Volume of Production Much Smaller.

Less Industrial Activity and Lower Prices in Business Readjustment.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 12.—An important readjustment of business conditions, characterized by decreases in industrial and trade activity and lower prices, was declared by the federal reserve board last night to be under way throughout the United States.

The board called attention to reduced earnings by industrial workers with a consequent curtailment in their buying power and sharp decreases in production. The lowered prices have carried to every commodity except food, which remains almost unchanged.

"The considerable expansion of production during the early months of 1924," the board said, "was followed by important curtailment in certain industries, in response to a lessened volume of current purchases and a hesitancy on the part of manufacturers in placing forward orders. In fact, there has been in recent months larger decrease in production of certain commodities than in their current consumption and in consequence stocks of these commodities have been reduced.

"The concessions in business activity have been accompanied since April by a decreased demand for credit for commercial purposes and this, together with the continued flow of gold imports has brought about an unusual ease in the money market. The decrease in the volume of the borrowing, however, has been less than the additional purchases of investments by commercial banks, so that the total of member bank credits in use is not only larger than at the beginning of the year, but larger than in any previous period."

In connection with the credit situation, the board said that the earning assets of the twelve federal reserve banks were lower at the beginning of this month than at any time for six years. They were approximately $225,000,000 below the figures of the same date last year.

Practically all important industries show decrease in employment in the last two months as compared with a year ago.

FORMING CENTRAL FARM FEDERATION

Conference of Agriculturalists Unable to Decide How to Organize.

(Associated Press)

ST. PAUL, July 12.—Although agreeing that farm relief legislation is necessary and that an organization similar in scope and power to the American Federation of Labor is needed to carry on its work, members of the resolutions committee of the National Conference of Farm Organizations were unable to determine yesterday how such a central organization should be formulated.

While the resolutions committee was in session, several hundred delegates to the conference, which opened a two day session here yesterday, were meeting elsewhere, discussing different phases of the agricultural situation.

In the debate before the resolutions committee of which William Hirth of Columbia, Mo., is chairman, it was contended by several of the members that a central committee, formed of delegates from every state and representing all farm organizations, should formulate any legislative action to be taken in the interests of agriculture.

Some opposed to this proposition claimed that the central committee should be elected only from the farm laborers and should act only in the capacity of a mouthpiece for the organizations now existing.

Lack of co-operation among the national leaders had been charged by the farmers, according to Carl Gunderson of Mitchell, S. D.

His mother is on her way to Lincoln, having been notified by a telegram from Dr. Sawyer.

LITTLE HEADWAY ON CONFERENCE

Text of Tentative Agreement Drawn Up By Macdonald and Herriot.

French Senator Declares Dawes Plan Justifies Cut of Nation's Debt.

(Associated Press.)

PARIS, July 12.—The joint text drawn up in Paris by Prime Minister Macdonald and Premier Herriot during their interview in connection with the inter-allied London conference represents all the progress that has been made toward an accord between France and Great Britain, the French premier declared before the senate yesterday, explaining his negotiations with the British prime minister. He said that the Chequers interview bound neither country.

Replying to an interruption concerning Mr. Macdonald's declarations in the house of commons in the inter-allied debts problem, M. Herriot repeated the substance of the Chequers conferences, which was confirmed in the joint text of the Paris interview, in the coure of which Mr. MacDonald agreed that both governments should study the question in a spirit of equity.

Senator Dausset, who preceded M. Herriot declared that the Dawes' plan surely reduced Germany's debt to the allies and that the French consequently would be justified in asking a reduction of her inter-allied war debt. He asked the premier if he was taking steps in that direction.

M. Herriot answered that he was powerless on the question of the war debts and could only appeal to the spirit of equity of the allies, which he had done at Chequers.

Not Expected Back Because of Incident of Japanese Exclusion Act.

Hope was expressed generally that the ambassador would return to Washington and Mr. Hanihara more than once smilingly replied that his connections here had been so pleasant he would be glad to do so. Because of developments incident to the passage of the immigration legislation with its Japanese exclusion provision, however, designation of a new envoy here is generally expected.

Bryan Renews His Pledge Of Support

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(A. P.) William J. Bryan, en route to St. Louis from New York stopped here long enough Friday to reiterate his support of the democratic ticket of John W. Davis and Charles W. Bryan and to express confidence in its success in November.

Mr. Bryan predicted that when Mr. Davis made his acceptance speech, all presumptions which might be held by any one against him would be wiped away. He said in opposing the nomination of Mr. Davis originally his objections were not personal. He regarded the democratic nominee as a man of exceptional ability and character, he added, and never had questioned his attitude on public questions.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL SAVES COMPANION

Drags Young Woman From Water After a Desperate Struggle.

(Special to The Star.)

COLUMBUS, Neb., July 12.—Prompt action of Helen Brown, 16 year old Columbus high school girl and daughter of E. G Brown, Union Pacific freight agent here, saved the life of Louise Brunner, 21, daughter of Mrs Mary Brunner last evening. Both girls were members of swimming parties in the sand pit lake near Columbus. While wading Miss Brunner, who is unable to swim, suddenly sank from sight. Helen Brown, battling in the water with the struggling and half conscious young woman in her arms finally made the shore a block distant while others, unable to aid, watched the struggle.

Miss Brunner was resuscitated by Dr. Floyd Heinemeyer, Evanston, Ill., who is visiting his aunt, Mrs. William Lohr here.

Miss Brunner is a stenographer in the Paxson-Davis wholesale grocery here. Miss Brown is one of next year's senior high school pupils.

Legion Perfecting Plans for Annual State Convention

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., July 12.—(A. P.)—Preliminary plans looking to perfection of detailed arrangements for the state convention of the American Legion are being worked out here. The convention, to be held here August 25, 26 and 27, was discussed at a meeting early this week by a committee on arrangements. Lawrence Treat, chairman of the committee, presided at the meeting.

Among other matters which came before the meeting was the announcement that the "Nebraska Legionnaire," official organ of the state organization, will in its August number, publish a complete "convention extra," to be given over exclusively to news of the state gathering. Grand Island convention scenes will feature in the number. It is the plan of the Hall county posts of the American Legion to make this number a "Hall county number" or a "Grand Island edition," and with this in mind local merchants are being solicited for advertising in the edition.

Paul M. Kirk has been appointed secretary of the convention committee.

The housing committee, upon which falls the responsibility of securing adequate accommodations for the large number of visitors, is convinced that hotel facilities will not be adequate and efforts are to be made to secure private rooms in the city to be offered for use of the visitors.

The state convention of the women's auxiliary of the legion will be held simultaneously with the legion convention.

The chairman of the entertainment committee reported plans for entertainment features were working out smoothly. An attraction of the first night's program is a boxing contest. Another interesting feature will be a mass formation of all the drum and bugle corps from the various posts in the state.

Those who have been mentioned most prominently are:

AN ELECTION ANALYSIS.

The Chicago Tribune, a staunch republican paper, has made an election analysis, which indicates that the November contest will be settled in the Middle West.

The Tribune's map shows the probable lineup of each state in the union, after representatives of the paper had visited each territory and sounded out local sentiment.

Its compilations reveal that Coolidge is certain of 168 electorial votes; Davis is likewise sure to receive 168 votes and LaFollette can positively count upon 38. The remaining 157 electorial votes are classified as doubtful.

In the Coolidge column are listed the following states: Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts Connecticut, Rhode Island, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan, Kansas, New Mexico, California, Oregon, Idaho, Utah and Wyoming. In the Davis column are Arizona, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, North and South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland. LaFollette is conceded four states as follows: Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota and Nebraska. The doubtful states are listed as follows: Washington, Montana, Nevada, Colorado, South Dakota, Iowa, Missouri, Indiana, Ohio, New York and New Jersey.

There are many points in The Tribune survey which are subject to dispute.

Nebraska's allignment, for example, is open to question. It would be folly to discount the fact that La Follette will poll a heavy vote in this state. That the Wisconsin senator will develop greater strength in Nebraska than Roosevelt did in 1912 is hardly possible—in fact, he will not be so strong. Roosevelt failed to carry Nebraska, although he had thousands of loyal and devoted friends in this state. The vote cast in 1912 shows Wilson received 109,008, Roosevelt, 72,614 and Taft 54,029. It is more than probable that Nebraska will be found in the Coolidge or Davis columns, with the chances favoring Davis. Nebraska's election law provides that Davis and Bryan must be voted upon jointly. In other words, it would be impossible to vote for Bryan without voting for Davis. The contest in Nebraska is more likely to resolve itself into a question of popularity of the two vice-presidential candidates, in which Governor Bryan has the edge on his opponent.

On the other hand, South Dakota was the only state giving LaFollette preference over Calvin Coolidge in the primaries. It was the only state, except Wisconsin, where Senator LaFollette's name appeared on the primary ballot. LaFollette's victory was clean-cut, in the face of the fact that he had opposition from Hiram Johnson. It will take a remarkable change in sentiment to place South Dakota into the certain Coolidge column as it has been listed by the Tribune. North Dakota, on the other hand, was carried by Coolidge. There the friends of Senator LaFollette organized a "sticker campaign" and thousands of men and women pasted the Wisconsin senator's name on the ballot. The combined vote of Hiram Johnson, who had been entered as a regular candidate, and LaFollette, topped that vote given President Coolidge by an imposing figure. It has been generally conceded that Minnesota and Wisconsin were safely in the LaFollette camp.

The Tribune's analysis, however, is significant.

Only a few days ago, when the democratic party was apparently hopelessly deadlocked over the choice of a standard bearer, there was a great deal of talk of injury to the party and an easy victory for President Coolidge. Less than a week after the nomination of John W. Davis, the leading spokesman for the republican administration in the middle west, foresees a possible victory for the West Virginia. Admissions that such pivotal states as New York, Ohio, Indiana and New Jersey must be placed in the doubtful column reflects the lack of enthusiasm which characterized the entire republican proceedings at Cleveland and which is certain to play a big part in the November result. In the face of the bitter fight at New York, there is real enthusiasm back of the Davis candidacy. Mr. Coolidge lacks the personal magnetism and the ability to fire the imagination of men.

Nine of the middle west and far western states are placed in the doubtful list. By its own admission, The Tribune believes the situation is similar to 1916, with the added complication of a third candidate.

A GOOD AND A POOR LOSER.

Not only democracy's sons and daughters, but all of the American people are given an excellent opportunity to arrive at an estimate of the two leading characters in the unprecedented situation which confronts the New York convention.

No matter how deeply attached and devoted were the friends of Mr. McAdoo to the cause which he represented, they must feel a certain amount of chagrin at his unusual attitude toward the victor of this contest. And in the same measure, the men and women who stood solidly behind Al Smith must feel a deep sense of pride in the generous spirit which their favorite has shown.

McAdoo has shown himself to be a poor sport and loser; Al Smith has been a good loser.

Smith's speech before the convention after the nomination of John W. Davis will remain a model of excellence. Here is what he said after detailing some of the reforms and forward movements which had taken place in that state under the leadership of his party:

"I want to make a passing reference to my own situation so far as the nomination for the presidency is concerned. If I were to tell anybody that I am disappointed, it would not be true, because I am not. I have gotten further in the public life of the country and the state than I ever expected to get. I have no rancor or ill will in my heart; nothing but gratitude.

"I did nothing about this nomination; there was nothing I could do about it. I chose the course of giving 100 per cent service to the people of this state instead of looking toward the big dome of the capitol at Washington and that's the reason why the republican party in this state is broken and leaderless.

"While the convention ran for more than a week, there was a great deal of talk about the damage to the party because of the length of time it took to select a candidate. Don't pay any attention to that. Anything that comes up from the masses of the people always takes time; if it comes any other way it's not genuine.

"You have made a wonderful nomination. If the United States was a great business institution and it belonged to me and I needed a man of great brains and capacity I would be willing to give it into the hands of John W. Davis. I wouldn't ask for a better executor of my last will and testament.

"So far as the state of New York is concerned take this pledge from me. I am the leader of the democracy of this state and the very minute that this convention is finished, I'll take off my coat and vest and so will everybody else who follows men in this state and do what we can to improve conditions in the United States by the election of the ticket that is going to come from this convention."

That is not the perfunctory statement which comes from the defeated candidate. There is so much good will and confidence, a willingness to accept the judgment of the members of the convention, a capacity to grasp the views of others, of real sincerity and devotion to the cause of democracy that it is easy to understand why Al Smith is the idol of New York state. Nowhere throughout his entire talk was there any evidence of the bigoted belief that he alone could represent the party whose honor he sought. To the contrary there is a true humility that he had been permited to participate in the large degree that he has in the affairs of the nation and state.

There is a startling contrast between this attitude of Al Smith and William G. McAdoo. Beyond a brief formal message of congratulation, Mr. McAdoo has had nothing to say. Although his party has honored him signally, he has sulked and pouted.

McAdoo's conduct since the New York convention is our idea of pretty bum sport. Even his action of Saturday in issuing a statement previous to his sailing for Europe, cannot blot out the disappointment of those who would like to believe he is a good loser.

THAT "TIRED FEELING."

Scientists have discovered that in the heated sultry days of summer, man's efficiency is reduced, sometimes as much as 60 per cent, writes Donald A. Laird, associate professor of psychology at Colgate university in Popular Science Monthly. That represents the actual loss of physical and mental energy due to climatic conditions.

At the same time, Dr. Laird points out, the average individual is about twice as likely to make an error in the work requiring concentration and accuracy when the thermometer registers 90 degrees or above than on days of moderate temperature.

Recently the clerical forces of several large banks in an eastern city were tested for working efficiency. It revealed that the number of errors made in ordinary work was low in the spring, increased markedly in the summer, fell again in the fall and increased again in the winter, although not to the summer maximum. A somewhat similar test was made in Connecticut, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

The scientist gives scanty attention to the theory that discomfort during the periods of extreme heat is primarily responsible for the frequent mistakes. He has much more substantial reason for it. He charges it up to metabolism or chemical action of the body. Chemical activity is speeded up by heat and retarded by cold. The chemical action of the body at this time of the year is increased to such an extent that waste products pile up more rapidly than the average human can absorb oxygen to destroy them. The effect of the accumulation of waste, the scientist explains, is the "tired feeling" which is so prevalent in summer.

The scientist may be finding some support in a few of the larger industries in the east but his research will not receive a great deal of support in most lines of industry. It is too fine spun for practical consumption.

TO BEGIN WORK ON FIRE HOUSE

Bids Opened For Building Station At Thirteenth And F Streets.

Preliminary work to the erection of a new fire house at Thirteenth and F streets will be started Monday when employes of the city engineer's office begin staking out the ground ready for the contractor to begin the actual operation of erecting the building.

Bids for the erection of the fire house were opened Saturday by the city engineer and of nine contractors who submitted figures, R. O. Stake was the lowest. All bids were under the estimate made by the engineer.

Under the specifications prepared by the engineer there were two proposals on which the contractors were required to submit figures. One was for the completion of the building save for the finishing of the second floor. The second proposal covered the cost of doing the second floor.

The bids will be submitted to the city council for approval at the Monday meeting and, it is believed at the engineer's office, work will be started at once, as the contract requires that the building be ready for use by October 1.

The prices submitted by the contractors follow, the first figure being the cost except for the finishing of the second floor, and the second the price for the second floor work:

R. O. Stake, $10,500 and $2,477; George Beck, $12,569, and $1,205; C. Hirsch, $11,500, and $2,240; R. L. Webber, $11,860, and $2,200; George C. Joy, $10,983, and $3,492; H. D. Allen, $12,073.26, and $2,829.31; W. S. Fullagar, $12,608, and $2,403; Harr. Holder, $12,970, and $2,810; and G. M. Robertson, $13,908, and $2,564.

Sun for the Skin.

Light treatment for various diseases has by no means been fully developed, but enough progress has been made so that interesting conclusions safely may be drawn. In rickets, lockjaw, and in some tubercular conditions the value of light therapy is generally recognized.

Wholly aside from the treatment given by the expert, either with sunlight or with artificial means of employing different kinds of rays, it may be desirable to know how to give yourself an exceedingly useful and helpful course of light therapy without the expenditure of a cent.

The light is provided free. It is no farther away than your own backyard or a room with a large window. Sunlight! Bathe in it! If you conveniently can devise means whereby your whole body can be exposed to the sun, and not to the neighbors, a daily sunbath is suggested as means of toning up the whole system and particularly the skin.

Dr. Edgar Mayer of Saranac Lake, N. Y., who has the wide experience with light therapy, recently made a statement that acne (a pimply condition) is rarely found developing in a tanned skin. He also states that healing takes place in 30 per cent more of cases of lupus vulgaris (a tubercular skin condition) when general body exposures are made to light rays in addition to the local exposures; indicating that light has a beneficial effect on the entire system.

In treating yourself and your children to nature's sunbaths, guard against two things; sunburn and eyestrain.

If sunlight were bottled and sold at drugstores as a tonic the public would rush to buy it. Because it is free, its value is not appreciated at its true worth. But if you'll try a few of these baths, I'm quite sure that you would be perfectly willing to sit down and write Old Sol an enthusiastic testimonial letter about the excellence of the rays that he bestows upon all humanity that cares to make use of them.

Questions and Answers.

Your questions on health topics will be answered by Dr. Dorothy Bocker if you will address her in care of this newspaper.

M. E. R.—My fourteen year old boy still bites his fingernails. I have scolded him and talked to him about this habit for years but often he chews the whole end of the nail right off. How can I break him of the habit?

Answer.—You cannot break him of the habit. He must do that himself and to do it he must have an incentive. The incentive for a fourteen year old boy is not hard to find. Without being severe or scolding him show him how rough and ugly his finger nails get when bitten and explain to him that he starts biting them because there is some little rough tag he wants to get off. Then give him a nail file to carry around in his pocket and as he learns to use it he may even get to using manicure scissors. He will substitute pride in the appearance of his nails for the urge to bite them and so will cure himself.

D. G. R.—What should a person five feet five inches tall weigh?

Answer—"It depends on his sex, inheritance of stature, possibilities. An elastic average would place the weight at about 135.

Another Thing To Go Over.

By GARRETT P. SERVISS.

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest

In the eyes of science, and of common sense, informed by modern knowledge, the antiquated British system of weights and measures, which we continue to use, is equalled in absurdity by the Fahrenheit method of measuring temperature. Both should be thrown into the discard together.

The instrument which science universally employes to measure temperature is the centigrade thermometer. Its use is so habitual with scientific men that in writing for non-technical readers they often neglect to state that the temperatures spoken of are measured by the centigrade system. The consequence is that perhaps nine out of ten readers suppose that the measures are in the commonly used Fahrenheit degrees, and so are led far away from the facts that it was intended to put before them.

The fundamental defect of the Fahrenheit system is that it is based on an unnatural, or artificial zero point. What may very properly be called an natural zero point of temperature for thermometers, i. e., the point from which degrees are reckoned upward on one side and downward on the other, is the freezing point of water, or better the melting point of ice. This is a point fixed in the nature of things, and conspicuous to everybody through the fact that it shows the temperature at which water turns into ice, or ice into water. And this is the basis of the centi-grade scale—"centigrade" meaning, of course, simply graduated in hundredths.

Another natural "point" of temperature, to which behavior of water calls conspicuous attention is the boiling point. Now the centi-grade thermometer is divided into just 100 degrees from the freezing point up to the boiling point of water. Nothing could be more natural or convenient than that, especially in view of the fact that most of the temperatures that we have eperience with in ordinary life are included between these two points.

Now, let us see where the Fahrenheit system or scale begins its useless complications. Its inventor Gabriel Daniel Fahrenheit, about 210 years ago, thought that he could get a better zero point by starting with the temperature of a freezing mixture of ice and salt. This is found to be very considerably lower than the point at which pure water freezes, and he adopted it as the zero for his scale.

There is quite a long story of his various experiments in graduating his thermometer, but the upshot was that he finally divided the scale into 212 degrees between his ice-and-salt zero and the boiling point of water. Thirty-two degrees of this scale lie between Fahrenheit's zero and the natural zero indicated by the freezing of water, or the melting of ice.

Thus it comes about that when people (except scientists in the United States or the British Isles, speak of zero weather they mean something far more severe in the way of cold than is meant when the same term is employed by people living in western, central, and southern Europe, or anywhere where the centigrade system is in popular use.

It makes matters still worse that the Fahrenheit and centigrade degrees are unequal individually. A centigrade degree, on the same thermometer tube, is as long as 1.8 degrees Fahrenheit, so that in calcu-corresponding to any given degree, ore vice versa, it is necessary to do quite a nice little sum in arithmetic. Not only must you express the one in terms of the other, but you must also carefully allow for the effect of the different location of the zero points. These calculations have often to be made, but there would be no need of them, if only one system was used. The choice alscience indicates what that system should be.

Brings Officer and Liquor To Lincoln In Same Car; Fined $200

Albert J. Rider of Omaha was fined $200 and costs in Justice Stevens' court Saturday morning when he pleaded guilty to charges of illegal possession and transportation of liquor. Rider was arrested Friday night when he brought a load of liquor into Lincoln, according to officers. The most disppointing thing bout the whole affair to Rider was the fact that he had hauled a state officer in his car all the way from Omaha to Lincoln, though he didn't know it at the time. When the two reached Lincoln and stopped to make the delivery of the liquor, Rider was arrested. The officer killed two birds with one stone, getting a free ride back to headquarters and picking up a law violator at the same time.

The new Oakland touring car which Rider was driving was confiscated by the officers.

Chapter 32—Explanations Begin

"Oh, my dear!" Linda Vale ran forward and threw her arms around Suzanne's neck. "I'm so glad to see you. And you too Geoff —" still clinging to Suzanne with her right hand, she gave Geoffrey her left one, "I had the most dreadful experience this afternoon. I was locked into your home—really locked in!"

"Dreadful," murmured Suzanne, wishisg that Mrs. Vale had chosen a less public spot.

"Yes, I went to see you—had something I really had to tell you at once—and no sooner did I arrive— and your nice Lieutenant Hale was there too—than these men appeared and told us the house was quarantined. You must have left just in time! And it was so distressing—and I—"

Suzanne did not know just how Geoffrey managed to stem that tirade: stem it he did, and a moment later Suzanne saw Mrs. Vale's back retreating down the room, while Geoff, murmuring "Idiot!" turned to a man at his other side. Suzanne smiled contentedly. If Mrs. Vale had finally made Geoff see what absurdities she was capable of, her reign would not last long.

"I'd like to know what happened to Hale," Geoffrey commented to Suzanne, when he could do so without being overhead. "And how do you suppose you got out, and where's the girl?"

"I might ask her," answered Suzanne. "She's probably told half the people here all about it by this time."

Geoffrey groaned.

"What in the deuce she went to the house for in the first place," he exclaimed irritably.

"Oh, that's nothing unusual," Suzanne answered. "Didn't I tell you about her coming out one morning to get some papers out of your safe, and staying to luncheon with me?"

"What? What's that?"

Suzanne repeated what she had said. She was at a loss to understand the expression that crossed her husband's face as he listened, but he said nothing, and a few moments later they went in to dinner.

Mrs. Vale was seated at another table, for which Suzanne was thankful, although she wondered uneasily what her husband's secretary might be saying to her neighbors. That afternoon she had thought that she could never again be concerned about Geoffrey Atwood's affairs, and now she was much disturbed for fear that Mrs. Vale, annoyed by his rebuff, might under the guise of being a foolish, talkative woman, let fall things that he would have preferred to keep secret.

Mrs. Vale left before the dinner was over. Suzanne hurried after her, to the dressing room, but had only a word with her before others intruded on their privacy.

"Oh I did want to see you this afternoon," Linda Vale exclaimed as she donned her cloak. "My news for you was this—Lolita, the girl you know just as a little chorus girl, is my daughter. And she and Geoffrey Atwood's nephew Dick eloped during the Christmas Holidays."

"But—why didn't Dick tell us?" demanded Suzanne.

"Because—well, no doubt Geoffrey will explain to you later; I really can't speak until he does!" And Linda Vale was gone.

Suzanne's mind summoned up past events. Geoff's trips out of town when he got back before he said that he would—his luncheon with Mrs. Vale, that was an insult to her—her feeling toward him swung back to their former point. She scribbled a note to him—"You'd better stay at the club tonight after all," and hurried away before it could be delivered.

Early the next morning she drove past the Atwood home. Lolita and Dick were on the upper porch. She wondered if this marriage of theirs was going to lead to such bitter unhappiness as her had.

"Oh, it can't," she told herself, turning her face away so that they would not recognize her. "They're both young and they love each other. I'm not bright and clever enough for Geoff; it takes a woman who's a genius to marry a man like him!"

AN ELECTION ANALYSIS.

The Chicago Tribune, a staunch republican paper, has made an election analysis, which indicates that the November contest will be settled in the Middle West.

The Tribune's map shows the probable lineup of each state in the union, after representatives of the paper had visited each territory and sounded out local sentiment.

Its compilations reveal that Coolidge is certain of 168 electorial votes; Davis is likewise sure to receive 168 votes and LaFollette can positively count upon 38. The remaining 157 electorial votes are classified as doubtful.

In the Coolidge column are listed the following states: Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts Connecticut, Rhode Island, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan, Kansas, New Mexico, California, Oregon, Idaho, Utah and Wyoming. In the Davis column are Arizona, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, North and South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland. LaFollette is conceded four states as follows: Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota and Nebraska. The doubtful states are listed as follows: Washington, Montana, Nevada, Colorado, South Dakota, Iowa, Missouri, Indiana, Ohio, New York and New Jersey.

There are many points in The Tribune survey which are subject to dispute.

Nebraska's allignment, for example, is open to question. It would be folly to discount the fact that La Follette will poll a heavy vote in this state. That the Wisconsin senator will develop greater strength in Nebraska than Roosevelt did in 1912 is hardly possible—in fact, he will not be so strong. Roosevelt failed to carry Nebraska, although he had thousands of loyal and devoted friends in this state. The vote cast in 1912 shows Wilson received 109,008, Roosevelt, 72,614 and Taft 54,029. It is more than probable that Nebraska will be found in the Coolidge or Davis columns, with the chances favoring Davis. Nebraska's election law provides that Davis and Bryan must be voted upon jointly. In other words, it would be impossible to vote for Bryan without voting for Davis. The contest in Nebraska is more likely to resolve itself into a question of popularity of the two vice-presidential candidates, in which Governor Bryan has the edge on his opponent.

On the other hand, South Dakota was the only state giving LaFollette preference over Calvin Coolidge in the primaries. It was the only state, except Wisconsin, where Senator LaFollette's name appeared on the primary ballot. LaFollette's victory was clean-cut, in the face of the fact that he had opposition from Hiram Johnson. It will take a remarkable change in sentiment to place South Dakota into the certain Coolidge column as it has been listed by the Tribune. North Dakota, on the other hand, was carried by Coolidge. There the friends of Senator LaFollette organized a "sticker campaign" and thousands of men and women pasted the Wisconsin senator's name on the ballot. The combined vote of Hiram Johnson, who had been entered as a regular candidate, and LaFollette, topped that vote given President Coolidge by an imposing figure. It has been generally conceded that Minnesota and Wisconsin were safely in the LaFollette camp.

The Tribune's analysis, however, is significant.

Only a few days ago, when the democratic party was apparently hopelessly deadlocked over the choice of a standard bearer, there was a great deal of talk of injury to the party and an easy victory for President Coolidge. Less than a week after the nomination of John W. Davis, the leading spokesman for the republican administration in the middle west, foresees a possible victory for the West Virginia. Admissions that such pivotal states as New York, Ohio, Indiana and New Jersey must be placed in the doubtful column reflects the lack of enthusiasm which characterized the entire republican proceedings at Cleveland and which is certain to play a big part in the November result. In the face of the bitter fight at New York, there is real enthusiasm back of the Davis candidacy. Mr. Coolidge lacks the personal magnetism and the ability to fire the imagination of men.

Nine of the middle west and far western states are placed in the doubtful list. By its own admission, The Tribune believes the situation is similar to 1916, with the added complication of a third candidate.

A GOOD AND A POOR LOSER.

Not only democracy's sons and daughters, but all of the American people are given an excellent opportunity to arrive at an estimate of the two leading characters in the unprecedented situation which confronts the New York convention.

No matter how deeply attached and devoted were the friends of Mr. McAdoo to the cause which he represented, they must feel a certain amount of chagrin at his unusual attitude toward the victor of this contest. And in the same measure, the men and women who stood solidly behind Al Smith must feel a deep sense of pride in the generous spirit which their favorite has shown.

McAdoo has shown himself to be a poor sport and loser; Al Smith has been a good loser.

Smith's speech before the convention after the nomination of John W. Davis will remain a model of excellence. Here is what he said after detailing some of the reforms and forward movements which had taken place in that state under the leadership of his party:

"I want to make a passing reference to my own situation so far as the nomination for the presidency is concerned. If I were to tell anybody that I am disappointed, it would not be true, because I am not. I have gotten further in the public life of the country and the state than I ever expected to get. I have no rancor or ill will in my heart; nothing but gratitude.

"I did nothing about this nomination; there was nothing I could do about it. I chose the course of giving 100 per cent service to the people of this state instead of looking toward the big dome of the capitol at Washington and that's the reason why the republican party in this state is broken and leaderless.

"While the convention ran for more than a week, there was a great deal of talk about the damage to the party because of the length of time it took to select a candidate. Don't pay any attention to that. Anything that comes up from the masses of the people always takes time; if it comes any other way it's not genuine.

"You have made a wonderful nomination. If the United States was a great business institution and it belonged to me and I needed a man of great brains and capacity I would be willing to give it into the hands of John W. Davis. I wouldn't ask for a better executor of my last will and testament.

"So far as the state of New York is concerned take this pledge from me. I am the leader of the democracy of this state and the very minute that this convention is finished, I'll take off my coat and vest and so will everybody else who follows men in this state and do what we can to improve conditions in the United States by the election of the ticket that is going to come from this convention."

That is not the perfunctory statement which comes from the defeated candidate. There is so much good will and confidence, a willingness to accept the judgment of the members of the convention, a capacity to grasp the views of others, of real sincerity and devotion to the cause of democracy that it is easy to understand why Al Smith is the idol of New York state. Nowhere throughout his entire talk was there any evidence of the bigoted belief that he alone could represent the party whose honor he sought. To the contrary there is a true humility that he had been permitted to participate in the large degree that he has in the affairs of the nation and state.

There is a startling contrast between this attitude of Al Smith and William G. McAdoo. Beyond a brief formal message of congratulation, Mr. McAdoo has had nothing to say. Although his party has honored him signally, he has sulked and pouted.

McAdoo's conduct since the New York convention is our idea of pretty bum sport. Even his action of Saturday in issuing a statement previous to his sailing for Europe, cannot blot out the disappointment of those who would like to believe he is a good loser.

THAT "TIRED FEELING."

Scientists have discovered that in the heated sultry days of summer, man's efficiency is reduced, sometimes as much as 60 per cent, writes Donald A. Laird, associate professor of psychology at Colgate university in Popular Science Monthly. That represents the actual loss of physical and mental energy due to climatic conditions.

At the same time, Dr. Laird points out, the average individual is about twice as likely to make an error in the work requiring concentration and accuracy when the thermometer registers 90 degrees or above than on days of moderate temperature.

Recently the clerical forces of several large banks in an eastern city were tested for working efficiency. It revealed that the number of errors made in ordinary work was low in the spring, increased markedly in the summer, fell again in the fall and increased again in the winter, although not to the summer maximum. A somewhat similar test was made in Connecticut, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

The scientist gives scanty attention to the theory that discomfort during the periods of extreme heat is primarily responsible for the frequent mistakes. He has much more substantial reason for it. He charges it up to metabolism or chemical action of the body. Chemical activity is speeded up by heat and retarded by cold. The chemical action of the body at this time of the year is increased to such an extent that waste products pile up more rapidly than the average human can absorb oxygen to destroy them. The effect of the accumulation of waste, the scientist explains, is the "tired feeling" which is so prevalent in summer.

The scientist may be finding some support in a few of the larger industries in the east but his research will not receive a great deal of support in most lines of industry. It is too fine spun for practical consumption.

Sun for the Skin.

Light treatment for various diseases has by no means been fully developed, but enough progress has been made so that interesting conclusions safely may be drawn. In rickets, lockjaw, and in some tubercular conditions the value of light therapy is generally recognized.

Wholly aside from the treatment given by the expert, either with sunlight or with artificial means of employing different kinds of rays, it may be desirable to know how to give yourself an exceedingly useful and helpful course of light therapy without the expenditure of a cent.

The light is provided free. It is no farther away than your own backyard or a room with a large window. Sunlight! Bathe in it! If you conveniently can devise means whereby your whole body can be exposed to the sun, and not to the neighbors, a daily sunbath is suggested as means of toning up the whole system and particularly the skin.

Dr. Edgar Mayer of Saranac Lake, N. Y., who has the wide experience with light therapy, recently made a statement that acne (a pimply condition) is rarely found developing in a tanned skin. He also states that healing takes place in 30 per cent more of cases of lupus vulgaris (a tubercular skin condition) when general body exposures are made to light rays in addition to the local exposures; indicating that light has a beneficial effect on the entire system.

In treating yourself and your children to nature's sunbaths, guard against two things; sunburn and eyestrain.

If sunlight were bottled and sold at drugstores as a tonic the public would rush to buy it. Because it is free, its value is not appreciated at its true worth. But if you'll try a few of these baths, I'm quite sure that you would be perfectly willing to sit down and write Old Sol an enthusiastic testimonial letter about the excellence of the rays that he bestows upon all humanity that cares to make use of them.

M. E. R.—My fourteen year old boy still bites his fingernails. I have scolded him and talked to him about this habit for years but often he chews the whole end of the nail right off. How can I break him of the habit?

Answer.—You cannot break him of the habit. He must do that himself and to do it he must have an incentive. The incentive for a fourteen year old boy is not hard to find. Without being severe or scolding him show him how rough and ugly his finger nails get when bitten and explain to him that he starts biting them because there is some little rough tag he wants to get off. Then give him a nail file to carry around in his pocket and as he learns to use it he may even get to using manicure scissors. He will substitute pride in the appearance of his nails for the urge to bite them and so will cure himself.

D. G. R.—What should a person five feet five inches tall weigh?

Answer—"It depends on his sex, inheritance of stature, possibilities. An elastic average would place the weight at about 135.

Another Thing To Go Over.

By GARRETT P. SERVISS.

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest

In the eyes of science, and of common sense, informed by modern knowledge, the antiquated British system of weights and measures, which we continue to use, is equalled in absurdity by the Fahrenheit method of measuring temperature. Both should be thrown into the discard together.

The instrument which science universally employes to measure temperature is the centigrade thermometer. Its use is so habitual with scientific men that in writing for non-technical readers they often neglect to state that the temperatures spoken of are measured by the centigrade system. The consequence is that perhaps nine out of ten readers suppose that the measures are in the commonly used Fahrenheit degrees, and so are led far away from the facts that it was intended to put before them.

The fundamental defect of the Fahrenheit system is that it is based on an unnatural, or artificial zero point. What may very properly be called an natural zero point of temperature for thermometers, i. e., the point from which degrees are reckoned upward on one side and downward on the other, is the freezing point of water, or better the melting point of ice. This is a point fixed in the nature of things, and conspicuous to everybody through the fact that it shows the temperature at which water turns into ice, or ice into water. And this is the basis of the centi-grade scale—"centigrade" meaning, of course, simply graduated in hundredths.

Another natural "point" of temperature, to which behavior of water calls conspicuous attention is the boiling point. Now the centi-grade thermometer is divided into just 100 degrees from the freezing point up to the boiling point of water. Nothing could be more natural or convenient than that, especially in view of the fact that most of the temperatures that we have eperience with in ordinary life are included between these two points.

Now, let us see where the Fahrenheit system or scale begins its useless complications. Its inventor Gabriel Daniel Fahrenheit, about 210 years ago, thought that he could get a better zero point by starting with the temperature of a freezing mixture of ice and salt. This is found to be very considerably lower than the point at which pure water freezes, and he adopted it as the zero for his scale.

There is quite a long story of his various experiments in graduating his thermometer, but the upshot was that he finally divided the scale into 212 degrees between his ice-and-salt zero and the boiling point of water. Thirty-two degrees of this scale lie between Fahrenheit's zero and the natural zero indicated by the freezing of water, or the melting of ice.

Thus it comes about that when people (except scientists in the United States or the British Isles, speak of zero weather they mean something far more severe in the way of cold than is meant when the same term is employed by people living in western, central, and southern Europe, or anywhere where the centigrade system is in popular use.

It makes matters still worse that the Fahrenheit and centigrade degrees are unequal individually. A centigrade degree, on the same thermometer tube, is as long as 1.8 degrees Fahrenheit, so that in calcu- corresponding to any given degree, ore vice versa, it is necessary to do quite a nice little sum in arithmetic. Not only must you express the one in terms of the other, but you must also carefully allow for the effect of the different location of the zero points. These calculations have often to be made, but there would be no need of them, if only one system was used. The choice alscience indicates what that system should be.

Brings Officer and Liquor To Lincoln In Same Car; Fined $200

Albert J. Rider of Omaha was fined $200 and costs in Justice Stevens' court Saturday morning when he pleaded guilty to charges of illegal possession and transportation of liquor. Rider was arrested Friday night when he brought a load of liquor into Lincoln, according to officers. The most disppointing thing bout the whole affair to Rider was the fact that he had hauled a state officer in his car all the way from Omaha to Lincoln, though he didn't know it at the time. When the two reached Lincoln and stopped to make the delivery of the liquor, Rider was arrested. The officer killed two birds with one stone, getting a free ride back to headquarters and picking up a law violator at the same time.

The new Oakland touring car which Rider was driving was confiscated by the officers.

La Follette Not To Select Bryan For Running Mate

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette, republican of Wisconsin, has refused definitely to accept the suggestion that he select Charles W. Bryan, democratic vice-presidential nominee, as running mate in his independent race for the white house, it was learned today.

La Follette was said to feel that the selection of Bryan would lead to the belief that his campaign was a political movement and that he was playing into the hands of the democratic party in the hope that should the election be thrown into congress, Bryan might be elected to the white house.

Chapter 32—Explanations Begin

"Oh, my dear!" Linda Vale ran forward and threw her arms around Suzanne's neck. "I'm so glad to see you. And you too Geoff —" still clinging to Suzanne with her right hand, she gave Geoffrey her left one. "I had the most dreadful experience this afternoon. I was locked into your home—really locked in!"

"Dreadful," murmured Suzanne, wishisg that Mrs. Vale had chosen a less public spot.

"Yes. I went to see you—had something I really had to tell you at once—and no sooner did I arrive— and your nice Lieutenant Hale was there too—than these men appeared and told us the house was quarantined. You must have left just in time! And it was so distressing—and I—"

Suzanne did not know just how Geoffrey managed to stem that tirade; stem it he did, and a moment later Suzanne saw Mrs. Vale's back retreating down the room, while Geoff, murmuring "Idiot!" turned to a man at his other side. Suzanne smiled contentedly. If Mrs. Vale had finally made Geoff see what absurdities she was capable of, her reign would not last long.

"I'd like to know what happened to Hale," Geoffrey commented to Suzanne, when he could do so without being overhead. "And how do you suppose you got out, and where's the girl?"

"I might ask her," answered Suzanne. "She's probably told half the people here all about it by this time."

Geoffrey groaned.

"What in the deuce she went to the house for in the first place," he exclaimed irritably.

"Oh, that's nothing unusual," Suzanne answered. "Didn't I tell you about her coming out one morning to get some papers out of your safe, and staying to luncheon with me?"

"What? What's that?"

Suzanne repeated what she had said. She was at a loss to understand the expression that crossed her husband's face as he listened, but he said nothing, and a few moments later they went in to dinner.

Mrs. Vale was seated at another table, for which Suzanne was thankful, although she wondered uneasily what her husband's secretary might be saying to her neighbors. That afternoon she had thought that she could never again be concerned about Geoffrey Atwood's affairs, and now she was much disturbed for fear that Mrs. Vale, annoyed by his rebuff, might under the guise of being a foolish, talkative woman, let fall things that he would have preferred to keep secret.

Mrs. Vale left before the dinner was over. Suzanne hurried after her to the dressing room, but had only a word with her berore others intruded on their privacy.

"Oh I did want to see you this afternoon," Linda Vale exclaimed as she donned her cloak. "My news for you was this—Lolita, the girl you know just as a little chorus girl, is my daughter. And she and Geoffrey Atwood's nephew Dick eloped during the Christmas Holidays."

"But—why didn't Dick tell us?" demanded Suzanne.

"Because—well, no doubt Geoffrey will explain to you later; I really can't speak until he does!" And Linda Vale was gone.

Suzanne's mind summoned up past events. Geoff's trips out of town when he got back before he said that he would—his luncheon with Mrs. Vale, that was an insult to her—her feeling toward him swung back to their former point. She scribbled a note to him—"You'd better stay at the club tonight after all," and hurried away before it could be delivered.

Early the next morning she drove past the Atwood home. Lolita and Dick were on the upper porch. She wondered if this marriage of theirs was going to lead to such bitter unhappiness as her had.

"Oh, it can't," she told herself, turning her face away so that they would not recognize her. "They're both young and they love each other. I'm not bright and clever enough for Geoff; it takes a woman who's a genius to marry a man like him!"

TO BEGIN WORK ON FIRE HOUSE

Bids Opened For Building Station At Thirteenth And F Streets.

Preliminary work to the erection of a new fire house at Thirteenth and F streets will be started Monday when employes of the city engineer's office begin staking out the ground ready for the contractor to begin the actual operation of erecting the building.

Bids for the erection of the fire house were opened Saturday by the city engineer and of nine contracters who submitted figures, R. O. Stake was the lowest. All bids were under the estimate made by the engineer.

Under the specifications prepared by the engineer there were two proposals on which the contractors were required to submit figures. One was for the completion of the building save for the finishing of the second floor. The second proposal covered the cost of doing the second floor.

The bids will be submitted to the city council for approval at the Monday meeting and, it is believed at the engineer's office, work will be started at once, as the contract requires that the building be ready for use by October 1.

The prices submitted by the contractors follow, the first figure being the cost except for the finishing of the second floor, and the second the price for the second floor work:

R. O. Stake, $10,500 and $2,477; George Beck, $12,559, and $1,203; C. Hirsch, $11,800, and $2,240; R. Webber, $11,860, and $2,200; George C. Joy, $10,983, and $3,492; H. D. DAVIS CONSIDERING CHOICE OF LEADER FOR HIS CAMPAIGN

Has Busy Day Receiving Stream of Callers; Confers An Hour With McAdoo.

Hull and White Say Unlikely They Will Continue As Party Officials.

(Associated Press)

NEW YORK July 12—Before leaving late last night for what he hoped would be a quiet week end at his country house at Locust Valley L I John W Davis democratic nominee for president put in a busy day Friday receiving a continuous procession of callers among them William G McAdoo Governor Smith and Cordell Hull chairman of the democratic national committee.

After an hour's conference alone with Mr Davis Mr McAdoo said he had called simply to pay his respects to the nominee whom he had known for many years. When asked whether he would support Mr Davis and Bryan the Californian replied

I'll deal with that question in a statement that I shall issue before I sail for Europe tomorrow if I can find time to prepare it.

Simultaneously with Mr McAdoo's call at the house of Frank L Polk where Mr Davis spent the day David Ladd Rockwell who had charge of Mr McAdoo's campaign for the nomination made public at a hotel a letter to Mr Davis and asserted that no candidate ever had had a clearer title to a nomination than Mr Davis. Mr Rockwell told correspondents that it was inconceivable to him that Mr McAdoo should decline to give his support to his successful rival.

Discuss Campaign Organization

Though Mr Davis discussed party organization especially the selection of a national chairman and campaign manager with Mr Hull and George White of Ohio who had charge of the Cox campaign in 1920 he reached no decision as to the choice of a democratic field marshal for the forthcoming campaign.

Mr Hull said after his visit to the nominee that he would not continue as national chairman after the formal opening of the campaign and Mr White said he thought it very unlikely that he would again take charge. Clem Shaver of Fairmont W Va and an old friend of the family who because of his membership in the Davis club of Clarksburg that launched the Davis boom who had been considered a possible chairman spent a large part of the day with Mr Davis.

The nominee so far has been receiving suggestions from these and other leaders but probably will not make a choice until next week.

After selecting a national chairman and arranging for the notification ceremony Mr Davis hopes to be able to turn the machinery of the party affairs over to his manager long enough to take a vacation of perhaps two weeks.

Mr and Mrs Charles Dana Gibson yesterday invited Mr and Mrs Davis to visit them at their summer home at Islesboro Me for this interim and the nominee will accept if he can clear up organization problems by the end of next week.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK July 12

Industrial stocks gathered momentum as the short session of the stock market proceeded today and while the volume of transactions was given comparatively small the trend of prices was toward higher levels. The rally in American Can Baldwin and other equipment stocks as well as in the specialties carried prices of these issues to the highest level for the movement and in some cases to the highest of the year to date.

The most prominent development prior to the opening of the market was the announced reduction in gasoline prices which followed the marking down of crude oil prices by a number of large buyers and rumors of drastic cuts in mid continent crude.

The gain of more than 1 cent in sterling [illegible] rise again emphasized the steady improvement in England's financial situation. The stock market was also favorably affected by the strength and activity of the grain markets.

The equipment stocks assumed the leadership in the first hour of trading and a new high for the year was recorded for American Locomotive while Baldwin Lima and New York Airbrake gained in the maximum of nearly 2 points.

Specialties and public utility stocks were featured by a brisk rise in Davison Chemical Owen Bottle Philadelphia company United Railways Investment common and preferred Colorado Fuel and Iron Jones Tea and General Asphalt.

Chesapeake & Ohio was again the feature of the railroad share list. Pittsburgh and West Virginia hung up a new high at 60¼ and New York Central was active around its previous closing level.

Stock sales today were 495 000 bonds $3 650 400. For the week stock sales were 5 040 000 shares bonds $68 30, 000.

The stock market was strong and steady at the opening today. Equipment stocks led the upward movement with American Locomotive up ¾ at a new high at 80 Baldwin up ¼ at 116⅞ and New York Airbrake up ¾ at 40⅞. Motors were [illegible] strong with Mack Truck up ¼ at 91 Studebaker fractionally higher at 38 [illegible] General Motors unchanged at 14⅝.

In the industrial list American Can opened unchanged at 116 and sold up to 117 in the first period. United States Steel was up [illegible] at 100¼.

Erie common was the most active of the railroad stocks opening ¼ higher at 29⅛ and selling up to a new high for the year at 30.

Oils were generally inactive.

with that political organization. The hope of general reforms and progress is more likely to be realized at this time through the democratic party than through any of its opponents.

I shall therefore give the Davis-Bryan ticket my cordial support and shall take part in the campaign on my return in September.

Mr McAdoo gave out the statement as he sailed on the Homeric with his wife and daughters for a six weeks visit in France Spain and Portugal.

Among those who bade him farewell was David Ladd Rockwell who managed his national campaign. When recognized by persons on the pier and aboard the liner Mr McAdoo smiled and doffed his hat.

The nature of his statement was forecast when Mr McAdoo called on Mr Davis yesterday and that in the evening after the banditage by Will Rogers at a theater Mr McAdoo made a short speech ending

Says "Let's Get Together"

Now that the convention is over let's all get together and make sure we elect a democrat.

Roped into an impromptu address by Rogers, Mr McAdoo began protestingly

Really I thought I was done with politics

You are Rogers cut in and the house rocked with laughter

Fourth Estate members have recovered from the sensation they had when a taxicab containing W R Hearst stopped at the Frank L Polk residence. Asked if he were calling on Mr Davis the publisher asked if he lived there. Then he called on his doctor in an adjoining residence.

Shortly thereafter Mr and Mrs Hearst left for their California ranch with Mayor and Mrs Hylan as their guests

Head Squeeze Wins For Lewis From Italian

CHICAGO July 12—Ed (Strangler) Lewis retained his world's heavyweight wrestling championship here last night in a hard fought match with Mechele Romano Italian challenger.

Struggling 2 hours and 19 minutes in the intense heat Lewis lost twelve pounds and Romano eleven pounds of weight before the champion by application of a score of punishing headlocks wore the challenger down sufficiently to gain the necessary two falls. The first came in 2 hours and 15 minutes and the last in 4 minutes.

Both big men were exhausted when the first fall came but Lewis had a bit more stamina than the Italian.

The contest the third between the two was witnessed by 12 000 persons who paid $32 000 for the privilege.

MARKET QUOTATIONS

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

OMAHA, Neb., July 12.

CATTLE—Receipts, 100. Supplies have been rather liberal this week, more than 30,600, and the market has shown an unevenly lower trend. Best and heaviest steers are off most, losing 25 to 40c, with medium grades 15 to 25c lower and yearlings nearly steady. Top for the week was $10.40. Most grades of she stock held steady, though the in-between classes were dull. Canners and cutters advanced fully 25 to 50c. Stockers were firm, but feeding cattle to go into the lot at once, were in poor demand. Today's market was nominally steady.

HOGS—Receipts, 14,500. Continued strength elsewhere again resulted in a slight upturn. Shippers were fairly good buyers of the best butcher grades at 5 to 10c higher prices, while the packer market was a little slow, but showed about the same advance as shipper trade. Bulk, $6.60@7.30; extreme top for one load, $7.40. Offerings found a ready outlet during the week and show an advance of 35 to 40c.

SHEEP—Receipts, 2,500. Few lambs at hand today were direct, and the market nominally steady. Lamb prices displayed a slightly weaker tendency during the greater part of the week and closing levels are around 50c lower. A broad inquiry and just fair supply resulted in a 25 to 50c upturn in feeders, with sheep showing the same advance.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

NEW YORK, July 12.—(A. P.)—Dun's today said:

Nothing in the week's report indicates any fundamental change in general business, but none is to be expected at this period. It is normally the time of year for abatement of operations, except in the sale of summer specialties and the following slow down in most directions is a seasonal trend. Some revival of buying interest in certain textile divisions is more active and firmer, but the main condition is still one of limited demand and lower prices. The prospect of smaller grain crops this year has caused appreciably higher prices for the principal cereals, yet Dun's list of wholesale quotations for the nineteenth consecutive week shows more reductions than increases. The excess of declines is, however, much narrower than in the resent past and there is evidence that prices in some quarters have reached the point where sellers are not disposed to make additional concessions. Weekly bank clearings, $6,279,582,000.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, July 12.

Industrialu stocks gathere momentum as the short session of the stock market proceeded today, and, while the volume of transactions was given comparatively small, the trend of prices was toward higher levels. The rally in American Can Baldwin and other equipment stocks as well as in the specialties, carried prices of these issues to the highest level for the movement and in some cases to the highest of the year to date.

The most prominent development prior to the opening of the market was teh announced reduction in gasoline prices which followed the marking down of crude oil prices by a number of large buyers, and rumors of drastic cuts in mid-continent crude.

The gain of more than 1 cent in sterling exchange, following yesterday's sharp rise, again emphasized the steady improvement in England's financial situation. hTe stock market was also favorably affected by the strength and activity of the grain markets.

The equipment stocks assumed the leadership in the first hour of trading and a new high for the year was recorded for American Locomotive while Baldwin, Lima and New York Airbrake gained in the maximum of nearly 2 points.

Specialty and public utility stocks were featured by a brisk rise in Davison Chemical, Owen Bottle, Philadelphia campany, United Railways, Investment common and preferred; Colorado Fuel and Iron, Jones Tea and General Asphalt.

Chesapeake & Ohio was again the feature of the railroad share list, Pittsburgh and West Virginia hung up a new high at 50¼ and New York Central was active around its previous closing level.

Stock sales today were 405,000; bonds $3,550,400. For the week, stock sales were 5,545,000 shares; bonds $68,307,000.

The stock market was strong and stealy at the opening today. Equipment stocks led the upward movement with American Locomotive up ⅜ at a new high at 80, Baldwin up ¼ at 116⅞ and New York Airbrake up ¾ at 42⅞. Motors were also strong with Mack Truck up ¼ at 90½, Studebaker fractionally higher at 38 and General Motors unchanged at 14⅝.

In the industrial list, Americen Can opened unchanged at 116 and sold up to 117 in the first period. United States Steel was up ¼ at 100¼.

Erie common was the most active of the railroad stocks, opening ¼ higher at 29¾ and selling up to a new high for the year at 30.

Oils were generally inactive.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 12.

Drouth conditions in Canada got behind the wheat market today and this, coupled with continued unfavorable weather in the corn belt, gave the grain market a strong tone throughout the day. At the close wheat was up 2⅛@2⅜c. Corn finished ⅜@3¼c higher and oats was up¾@1⅝c. Provisions were more active.

Continued firmness marked today's grain opening.

WHEAT—Wheat opened ⅝ to 1⅛c higher, on an absence of selling and a rush to buy. Additional gains were made in the second hour; the trade was broad and strong.

CORN—Corn was 2½ to 2¾c for the July at tire start with other months unchanged. July corn was very scarce, it being almost impossible to fill orders.

OATS—Oats opened unchanged with a light trade and locals doing most of that.

PROVISIONS—Provisions were unchanged to 5c higher for lard on new buying.

with that political organization. The hope of general reforms and progress is more likely to be realized at this time through the democratic party than through any of its opponents.

"I shall, therefore, give the Davis-Bryan ticket my cordial support and shall take patr in the campaign on my return in September."

Mr. McAdoo gave out the statement as he sailed on the Homeric with his wife and daughters for a six weeks visit in France, Spain and Portugal.

Among those who bade him farewell was David Ladd Rockwell, who managed his national campaign. When recognized by persons on the pier and aboard the liner, Mr. McAdoo smiled and doffed his hat.

The nature of his statement was forecast when Mr. McAdoo called on Mr. Davis yesterday and that in the evening after the bandiage by Will Rogers at a theater, Mr. McAdoo made a short speech, ending:

Says "Let's Get Together."

"Now that the convention is over let's all get together and make sure we elect a democrat."

Roped into an impromptu address by Rogers, Mr. McAdoo began protestingly:

"Really, I thought I was done with politics."

"You are," Rogers cut in, and the house rocked with laughter.

Fourth Estate members have recovered from the sensation they had when a taxicab containing W. R. Hearst stopped at the Frank L. Polk residence. Asked if he were calling on Mr. Davis, the publisher asked if he lived there. Then he called on his doctor in an adjoining residence.

Shortly thereafter Mr. and Mrs. Hearst left for their California ranch with Mayor and Mrs. Hylan as their guests.

READY TO THRESH.

BRYON, Neb., July 12.—Harvesting of small grain is completed here, and farmers state that they will begin threshing the coming week. Most of the grain will be threshed direct from the shock and hauled to the elevators here for shipment while the price is good.

The test is expected to be all above 61 here this year and there is more grain than last year. The Burlington railway has the siding filled with grain cars at Byron and several stations in this vicinity ready to load up the grain. Bryon is one of the best grain loading stations between Wymore and Oxford.

Utah Capital Keeps Club In Coast League

LOS ANGELES, July 12.—Enough money has been raised in Salt Lake City to pay visiting clubs' guarantees and the Utah city will maintain its franchise in the Pacific Coast baseball league, League President Harry W. Williams announced today.

Negotiations to transfer the Morman franchise to Vancouver, B. C., have been ended and Salt Lake will finish the season, Williams said William Lane, owner of the Salt Lake team, confirmed the announcement.

It was said Salt Lake already has been notified it will have no team in the league next season and Long Beach, San Diego or Vancouver will not get the franchise. The plan is to put another club in San Francisco to be located in the Mission district. This will give San Francisco continuous baseball.

Head Squeeze Wins For Lewis From Italian

CHICAGO, July 12.—Ed ("Strangler") Lewis retained his world's heavyweight wrestling championship here last night in a hard fought match with Mechele Romano, Italian challenger.

Struggling 2 hours and 19 minutes in the intense heat, Lewis lost twelve pounds and Romano eleven pounds of weight before the champion, by application of a score of punishing headlocks, wore the challenger down sufficiently to gain the necessary two falls. The first came in 2 hours and 15 minutes and the last in 4 minutes.

Both big men were exhausted when the first fall came, but Lewis had a bit more stamina than the Italian.

The contest, the third between the two, was witnessed by 12,000 persons, who paid $32,000 for the privilege.

Lewis will leave with his bride today for a motor trip to California. Thence they will go to Honolulu on their honeymoon.

The white house was at once reopened to visitors, the flag run up full staff and the usual routine of official life resumed.

More than 10,000 telegrams and thousands of letters of sympathy have been received at the executive mansion since the bereavment.

LIFE AND CHARACTER READING.

Women born on this date like to wear sparkling jewels, and are always striving to show them off to the best advantage. The men, as well as the women, are inordinately fond of seeing their names in print, and are always seeking the plaudits of the mobs.

The most congenial companionships will be found among those persons born under Pisces and Scorpio.

Cancer is the sign which governs this birthdate and the governing planet is the Moon. This is the only sign of the Zodiac which is governed by the Moon, and the changeable qualities of the people are attributed to its influence.

The Lost and Found columns of The Star Want Ads are indispensable if you have lost something. Seek knowledge in their depths.

Links Slug Their Way to Victory In Odd Game of Tulsa Series

OILERS TRIMMED IN TWO OF THREE

BY "CY" SHERMAN

Manager Josh and his Links galloped to another pastiming triumph Friday afternoon at Landis Field climbing the frames of the Tulsa Oilers, 11 to 9 and bagging the odd game of the series Flushed by their victory of the previous day the Links were full of fight all afternoon Eighteen safe thumps rained from the bats of the home gladiators three Tulsa pitchers taking turns in serving the Spalding pellet and none of the trio escaping punishment

Karl Black Tulsa's southpaw ace lingered less than three innings the home gang sending him on his way to the shower with an assault which comprised nine blows and seven runs Pence was more fortunate than his predecessor but the Links ultimately took his measure so Young Bolen came on for a final dressing down which added one marker to the Lincoln run total

Rasmussen Goes the Pace

Art Rasmussen traveled the full nine inning route for our Links His support cracked to the extent of five fielding blunders yet the curve ball artist from Ticonic Ia had the zipp and endurance to go the pace in a battle of hits and boots which would have worried a less courageous flinger

After the Oilers had been expunged in the introductory frame the Links came in and greeted Mr Black with a barrage of safe blows The incomparable Eddie Moore slapped a single to right Coleman hoisted a fly to Flippin but Gunther busted No 1 of a string of four hits shoving Eddie to third Skinner flied to Lyman Lamb but Bob Snyder rammed for two sacks and Chili McDaniel and Scotty McDonald smacked line singles Chavvy Chavez glided to first when the Oilers failed on an attempted force of Scotty at second Rasmussen was put down on strikes for the third out but the home gang had smeared Black with four markers hopping off to a lead which held up to the climax in the ninth frame

Black Knocked Off Mound

Black emerged from the second unscathed but the Links took him to another delightful drubbing in the third when Snyder and McDaniel led off with singles and Scotty McDonald cleaned the bases with a four base knock which soared over the left field fence

The Oilers perked up a bit in their slice of the third counting three runs on a string of five blows at least three of which were flukish and altogether undeserved Lyman Lamb's two-baser and Jack Lelivelt's homer added two markers to the Tulsa run column in the fifth while Lyman's circuit drive in the seventh accounted for an additional tally Washburn's homer over the pickets in right was interjected when Lamb and Lelivelt were perched on the bases in the eighth representing the Oilers final accomplishment in the department of run making

Links Clinched Victory

The Links clinched victory in the sixth on McDaniel's single McDonald's double and Rasmussen's liner for one base but reeled off a final scoring effort in the seventh when Coleman was whacked by a pitched ball and sped to the counting station on Gunther's vicious sock to right center for a pair of sacks

Tulsa had two runners on the bases in the ninth both getting there by virtue of Lincoln's errors but Chavvy Chavez executed a dazzling stop of Casey's torrid grounder and hurled to Scotty at third for a force play and the final out

Lyman's Dazzling Catch

The ball game bristled with base hits and spectacular fielding a diving one mitt catch by Lyman Lamb in the middle garden representing an accomplishment of stunning brilliance

The Isbells of Wichita headed into Lincoln Saturday for a visit of three days at Landis Field The bill for Sunday specifies a doubleheader First game at 2 p m Friday's official figures

NOTES OF THE GAME

Tulsa's pitching staff is still wobbling Manager Lelivelt used two flingers in winning Wednesday's game but most of the relays while sending two hurlers to the firing line Another trio on Friday—Black Pence and Bolen were hit hard the Links collecting eighteen safe thumps but Bolen youngest of the bunch was most successful in holding down the Lincoln hitters

Faltering support kept Rasmussen in hot water all afternoon but the Lincoln veteran although punished to the extent of fifteen blows stuck to his job and hurled his most effective inning in the ninth

A series of startling fielding performances made the ball game one of the thrillers of the Lincoln season Lamb's diving one hand catch of Moore's liner in the second was a gem of purest ray while Moore and Coleman treading clover in the Lincoln garden also were present with stellar catches

Chavez Lincoln shortstop saved Rasmussen from threatened defeat in the ninth After the first two Oiler hitters had been expunged Chavez booted a grounder to McDonald followed suit With the tieing runs on the path the Portuguese flash trapped Casey's sizzling drive on the edge of the outfield grass and chucked to third for a force play and the final out

Manager Jack Lelivelt of Tulsa fattened his swatting average Facing Rasmussen five times the Tulsa pilot rapped three singles and a homer Lyman Lamb likewise was lugging a mean club with a single a double and a home run in five trips to the platter

Gunther Lincoln's second sacker appropriated the slugging laurels for the home athletes smacking three line singles and a double in five times up Moore Snyder McDaniel and McDonald each swung the ball for three blows Moore and Snyder getting a double and two singles while McDonald's harvest included a single a two baser and a circuit trip

As a general proposition the Links can be stopped by a southpaw but Karl Black displayed nothing that seemed to worry the home athletes Black was pounded for five slashing blows in the first frame and the Links got to the Tulsa sidewheeler for a string of three hits in the third As enough is quite sufficient Manager Lelivelt waved Black off the mound and summoned Pence

Pinch hitters failed to accomplish anything for the Tulsa cause Stuart swung his club for Pence in the seventh and let a sweeping curve swing over the middle of the plate for a third strike Yank Davis out of the game for two weeks with injuries batted for Flippin in the ninth rolling an easy roller to Rasmussen

The Oilers pulled away early Friday night for Denver and were due to head into the camp of the Bears Saturday noon

YANKS KEEP LEAD IN PARIS OLYMPIAD

Americans Retain Top Place In Points, But Finns Still In Race.

U. S. Team Hangs Up World Record In Trial Heat Of 400-Metre Relay.

U S STILL IN FRONT

PARIS, July 12—After the final of the 10 000-meter individual and team race events the total of points for the two leaders was
United States, 193 1 2
Finland, 128

ARGENTINIAN BREAKS RECORD

COLOMBES STADIUM, July 12—Aid came to the hard pressed American Olympic athletes from an unexpected source today when Senor Bruneto a dusky son of the Argentine, smashed the Olympic record in the hop, step and jump and took an almost certain first place from mighty little Finland America's most dangerous foe

Dashing down the path on his first trial, Bruneto hopped, stepped and jumped fifteen metres, forty-two and one half centimetres — within ten centimetres of the world's record and more than fifty centimetres beyond the Olympic record that had stood since 1908

Another record fell in this greatest of Olympic meets when the British 400 metre relay team flashed over the distance in 42 seconds flat nipping two fifths of a second off the record made by Scholz, Murchison, Kirksey and Paddock in Antwerp in 1920

Paavo Nurmi, the wonderful Finnish runner, won the 10 000 metre cross country race finishing 400 metres ahead of Willie Ritola, his countryman and bitter rival It was Nurmi's third first place and established him as the greatest of all Olympic runners Earl Johnson, American negro, won third place for Uncle Sam

YANKEES SMASH A RECORD

COLOMBES STADIUM France, July 12—The United States team broke the world's record in the 400 metre relay race sixth trial heat, making the distance in 41 1 5 seconds, beating the new record of 42 seconds flat made earlier in the afternoon by the British team

The Americans raced like the wind to clip four-fifths of a second off the mark set by Great Britain in the first heat and equalled in the third heat by Holland

The United States team was composed of Frank Hussey, Stuyvesant high of New York the interscholastic sprint champion, Louis Clark Johns Hopkins; Loren Murchison, Newark A C., and Alfred Leconey, Meadowbrook club

They ran in the order named

Hussey, the schoolboy star, got off to flying start, and handed the baton over to Clark with a lead of five yards over France's team the other competitor in the heat Clark gained two yards in his turn and Murchison, on the third leg, added six more On the final Leconey increased the margin over France to twenty yards at the finish

PARIS July 12—Four more Olympic finals including the decathlon which was started yesterday will be decided this afternoon together with the last of the remaining trials leaving six finals for the all star closing bill on Sunday which is always the biggest sporting day of the week in France

Finland in second place 80½ points behind the pace setting Americans is still a possible winner although far from a probable one The American score increased by taking second and fifth places in the 400 metre dash the only final yesterday now is 183½ Finland has 103 and Great Britain 60½ the latter having advanced thanks to the record breaking performance of Liddell in the 400 metres Sweden has 24½ France 13½ Switzerland 11 Hungary 7½ Canada 5 South Africa 5 Norway 4 New Zealand 4 and Denmark 3½

The Saturday Program

Today's program is as follows
3 p m—Decathlon (110 metre hurdles) running hop step and jump final
3 30 p m—10 000 metres (cross country individual and team race) final decathlon (throwing the discus)
3 45 p m—Four hundred metre relay race (trials)
4 p m—Decathlon (pole vault)
5 p m—1 600 metre relay race (trials)
5 p m—Decathlon (throwing the javelin)
6 30 p m—Decathlon (1 500 metres flat)

The 10 000 metre run provides two finals inasmuch as it decides both the individual and team winners the regular number of points being allotted for each first place Thus the incomparable Finnish distance runners Paavo Nurmi and Willie Ritola alone have an opportunity to add 25 points to their nation's score by placing first and second in this event The United States Great Britain and France are the only other contenders Each nation has six starters

Finns Threaten U S A

COLOMBES STADIUM France July 12—Today is the day of the Finns in Colombes Stadium and the sterling athletes of that mighty little nation have a chance to pass the United States in the matter of individual winners

As the games got under way this morning the United States had won eight first places to six for the Finns The latter are believed almost certain to take two of the three finals today —the hop step and jump the cross country run and the decathlon

DeHart Hubbard American ace in the hop step and jump is definitely out of competition with a bruised heel Coach Lawson Robertson wanted to substitute Ned Gourdin but the Olympic committee would not permit it although they permitted the Finns to make a substitution for Paavo Nurmi when he was withdrawn from the 10 000 metre run

Missouri Athlete Competes

Marvin Graham of Kansas is the best of the remaining Americans but he is not expected to equal the fifty foot jumps of the Finns—Tulos and Sainee Earl Wilson of the University of Southern California and Mack Keeble of the University of Missouri the other American entries are not expected to place

America's chances in the 10 000 metre cross country team race are bright for second but there seems to be no chance of beating Nurmi Ritola and their teammates for first honors

In the decathlon however H M Osborn of Illinois A C and Emerson Norton of Georgetown may finish one two They stood that way at the start of the final five events today Norton led with 4 109 points and Osborn was second with 4 168 10 The 110 metre hurdles the discus pole vault javelin and 1 500 metre run are the remaining events of the decathlon

Today's program also includes trial heats in the 400 and 1 600 metre relay races

Yanks May Win One Relay

Francis Hussey of New York Louis Clarke of John Hopkins Loren Murchison and Alfred Leconey will make up the 400 metre team J O MacDonald of Penn Stevenson Cochrane and Allan Helffrich are expected to cover the 1 600 metres in 3 18 or thereabouts which will be fast enough to win

The American catch as-catch can wrestlers got better than an even break in the first matches winning five and losing four

Attendance is still small at the games and Lloyd's may be called upon to make up a deficit The French insured the affair for $600 000 and the gate receipts are far below that mark

Wrestlers Do Their Stuff

PARIS July 12—Charles W Strack of Colgate the hope of the United States in the light heavyweight division was eliminated from the Olympic wrestling competition today at the Velodrome d'Hiver by Courant of Switzerland in a bout which was decided on points John F Spellman of Brown however scored a victory for the Stars and Stripes in the same class over Wilson of Great Britain

LAMB SETS PACE IN WESTERN LOOP

Ex-Lincoln Sandlotter Is At Peak of the Pile In Batting Table.

Has Four-Point Margin Over Cullop of Omaha. Who Ranks Second.

Cullop of Omaha has pushed himself to second place in the batting race of the Western league with an average of 385 threatening to challenge Lamb of Tulsa who is leading with 389 Dunning of Wichita is third with 379

Cullop registered four home runs during the week giving him a total of 21 which ties Davies of Tulsa and is only two removed from Washburn also of Tulsa who is setting the pace Washburn chalked up his 100th run the first of the flock to reach that figure His 23 home runs naturally cut a large figure in his scoring

Although Corrigan of St Joseph made a gallant attempt he has not been getting any nearer to Smith of Wichita in stolen bases each pilfer ing three which gives the Wichita speedster twenty-eight

Other leading batters Austin Tulsa 370 Lelivelt Tulsa 368 O'Brien Denver 367 Robinson Omaha 363 Davis Tulsa 362 Washburn Tulsa 361, Miller St Joseph 361 Butler Wichita 355 Luderus Oklahoma City 355

Falk Drives to Top

A sensational drive that produced fourteen hits in seven games has boosted Bib Falk outfielder with the Chicago White Sox to the batting leadership of the American league with an average of 372

Falk was fifth in the rating a week ago with an average of 345 Although his hitting efforts were confined to spaces within fences five of his safe blows were two baggers He averaged two hits a game for the last week and is showing no inclination to relinquish the lead

Babe Ruth is clinging to second place with an average of 365 with Jamieson of Cleveland third with 363 The idle Boone of Boston is up among the pace-makers with 351 followed by Cobb of Detroit in fifth place with 345 Goslin of Washington and Sheely of Chicago have been doing some telling work with their bats and Harry Heilmann of the Tigers who set the pace almost since the start of the season is getting no worse

Ruth Adds to Homer Total

Ruth added two home runs to his collection bringing it up to twenty-two He is in no apparent danger of being overtaken as he is eight ahead of Ken Williams of St Louis and Hauser of Philadelphia

Collins of Chicago has not much competition on the bases the White Sox captain having pilferred 21 the figures including games of last Wednesday

Other leading batters Goslin Washington 344 Sheely Chicago 338 Hielmann Detroit 337 Prothro Washington 333 Mostil Chicago 332 Meusel New York 331 Collins Boston 331

Hornsby Still High Man

The hitting in the National league has been consistent if not sensational The leaders remain undisturbed with Hornsby of St Louis showing the way with 392 Wheat of Brooklyn is batting second with 379 and Snyder of the Giants third with 354 Kelley also of the Giants is fourth with 351

Bressler of Cincinnati grabbed off a flock of hits before Daubert returned to the game and the substitute first sacker of the Reds therefore figures among the first five with 346

Although Fournier of Brooklyn has been swinging a mean club in long distance hitting he has sagged in general average Fournier has connected with 17 homers while Williams of Philadelphia and Hornsby are tied for second honors with nine apiece

Carey of Pittsburgh has been setting a sensational pace in base stealing leading with twenty with Grantham of Chicago second with seventeen

Other leading batters Gowdy New York 346 Youngs New York 345 Roush Cincinnati 345 Fournier Brooklyn 337 Grigsby Chicago 336 Grantham Chicago 335 Frisch New York 335

HERE AND THERE IN BASEBALL

TWO GAMES SUNDAY

Lincoln fans will have a double serving of Sunday baseball—Links vs Wichita at Landis Field; first game at 2 p m

Manager Josh and his athletes have been pulling some of the winning stuff of late, grabbing four of eight while playing five of the eight on foreign soil New owners of the Links have been making appreciable headway on their campaign to strengthen the club they purpose to stick on the job of bidding for new talent, and judging from recent performances, the Links seem to be destined to move to a higher station in the percentage reckoning

A representative Sunday attendance, if not a packed house would accomplish a two fold purpose —it would prove to the new owners that Lincoln appreciates their efforts to rebuild and reorganize the club it would help to anchor Western league baseball in this town

Links Excelled In Hitting

The Tulsa Oilers with a ponderous team batting average well above the 300 mark weren't such a much with their bats during the series in Lincoln terminating Friday As a matter of fact the lowly Links outswatted the Oilers in every game Official statistics for the series disclose that the Oilers had a healthy margin in the fielding percentage the error while the Links were committing ten blunders but in stick work the Links had all the better of the comparison The batting record for the three games follows

Team batting—	AB	R	H	Pct
Lincoln	113	[illegible]	38	336
Tulsa	114	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

Eddie Moore who dozes in the center garden for the Links practically every day was a prime factor in the batting supremacy of the home gang during the series with the Oilers Eddie was at bat 13 times scoring four runs and making seven hits for an average of 538

Fred Gunther second sacker for the Links compiled a fancy record in Friday's fray The score book shows that Gunther handled five put outs and four assists with out a slip and mauled the ball for three singles and a double in five times at bat Every one of Gunther's blows was a line drive

Omaha Headed for Pennant

Evidences are unmistakable that the Denver Bears pace makers during the first two months of the pennant pursuit in the West in have slipped—and probably slipped for keeps The Bears were fortunate to take three of five games from the Links recently as the Clarke clan dropped two games while outhitting the Grizzlies by a snug margin In the series with Wichita ending Friday the Bears were bumped in two of the three starts—a pace that won't get the Denver club anywhere in its campaign to overcome the fast going Omaha club Judging the Burch family from the gait it has been traveling during the past month Omaha will flaunt that flag Barney Burch has a ball club that is strong in pitching and hitting but only so so in fielding While Denver has the edge in fielding the pitching and slugging advantage possessed by Omaha should be sufficient to win the bunting for the Nebraska metropolis

Regardless of the fact that Washburn and Davis of the Tulsa club have compiled a fat string of homers the two most dangerous hitters in the Western loop are Osborne and Cullop swatting aces of the Omaha lineup Cullop and Osborne would hit in any park while Washburn and Davis are dependable only at the home yard where a cigar box ball park makes home runs easy As Omaha will have the long end of its games at the home yard during the final half of the race while the Oilers must perform mostly on the road the odds clearly favor the tribe of Burch

Indians Buy and Sell

Jack Holland boss of the Oklahoma City Indians has sold Outfielder Jim Sweeney a dissatisfied player to the Kansas City Blues While disposing of Sweeney Holland has acquired two pitchers and an outfielder from the defunct Oklahoma State league which went on the rocks a few days ago Sweeney goes to Kansas City on a thirty days trial

Pete Casey former Nebraska leaguer with Norfolk is the handy man of the Tulsa salary roster Pete disports in the garden back of the plate and at the first sack whenever a substitute is required And Pete is doing his stuff in class A style In fact Cy Logsdon Tulsa baseball scribe with the Oilers in Lincoln this week asserts that Casey is rated as Tulsa's best bet for a sale to faster company this fall

Senators Taking Yankee Dust

New York American baseball stock which slumped below Washington on the major league board almost three weeks ago and at one time sank as low as third place finally has recovered and Yankee shareholders today are rejoicing in the hope of championship dividends For the past few days the Senators have been the victims of a raid by the Detroit Tigers and are now clinging to second place by a one game margin

Mangum and Grabowski American association recruits of the White Sox in an effort to even the series with the Yanks convinced Manager Evers in three innings that minor league stars are often major league lemons Lyons and Schalk succeeded the rookies but the champions won a 12 to 9 victory Ruth hit his twenty fourth homer

Walter Johnson after holding Detroit to two hits until the eighth weakened and Washington lost a 4 to 3 decision to the Tigers

St Louis ousted Chicago from fourth place by splitting a twin bill with Boston The Browns won the first 8 to 1 and lost the second 7 to 6

Three Cleveland pitchers suffered a terrific lacing as the Philadelphia Athletics hammered out a 10 to 1 triumph over the Indians Manager Speaker was banished from the game in the sixth and from the bench in the seventh for disputing Umpire Dineen's decisions on balls and strikes

Giants Walk On Cardinals

By scoring five times in the tenth inning the Giants chalked up a 10 to 5 victory over St Louis Kelly's homer accounted for two of the quintet in the final frame

Badly in need of a victory to keep within hailing distance of Chicago Brooklyn elected Dazzy Vance to bear the pitching burden and the speed king did his stuff to the extent of 9 to 1 victory

Cooper salted away his fifth straight win as Pittsburgh trounced Boston 8 to 2 and broke even on the series

A 6 to 0 shutout gave Cincinnati the fourth victory in a five game series with Philadelphia

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of [illegible] Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher" says "Chick" Evans

The arm wrist and body action with an iron club is the same in taking the club back as for the woods though the irons being shorter the swing is somewhat snappier This slight difference in the speed of the swing makes the iron [illegible] while the wood stroke is a swing which is the only way one differs from the other

BLADE AT RIGHT ANGLE TO LINE OF FLIGHT•

You take the iron back exactly as you do the wood shift the weight and keep the blade low to the ground See that the left wrist stays right in line with the shift and that the left arm reaches inward toward the body not outward If you reach outward with the arm the forearm probably will roll to the right and spoil the stroke When the blade is well back from the ball the blade should still face directly toward the ball showing that the left wrist and left forearm have exerted no influence as yet on the position of the blade The idea is to keep the blade in its position of direct right angles to the ball as much as you possibly can throughout the entire stroke When it is well back from the ball and still facing the ball break the blade directly up slowly with the right wrist—and observe by watching its path how it remains in its position of direct angles to the ball That is what you want in your actual play

Links Slug Their Way to Victory In Odd Game of Tulsa Series

OILERS TRIMMED IN TWO OF THREE

Tulsa Clan Was Knocked Off, 11 to 9, In Odd Game Of Lincoln Series.

Links Rapped Three Hurlers For 18 Hits; Rasmussen Went Full Route.

Oklahoma City at Des Moines: clear.

BY "CY" SHERMAN.

Manager Josh and his Links galloped to another pastiming triumph Friday afternoon at Landis Field, climbing the frames of the Tulsa Oilers, 11 to 9, and bagging the odd game of the series. Flushed by their victory of the previous day, the Links were full of fight all afternoon. Eighteen safe thumps rained from the bats of the home gladiators, three Tulsa pitchers taking turns in serving the Spalding pellet and none of the trio escaping punishment.

Karl Black, Tulsa's southpaw ace, lingered less than three innings, the home gang sending him on his way to the shower with an assault which comprised nine blows and seven runs. Pence was more fortunate than his predecessor, but the Links ultimately took his measure, so Young Bolen came on for a final dressing down which added one marker to the Lincoln run total.

Rasmussen Goes the Pace.

Art Rasmussen traveled the full nine-inning route for our Links. His support cracked to the extent of five fielding blunders, yet the curve-ball artist from Ticonic, Ia., had the zipp and endurance to go the pace in a battle of hits and boots which would have worried a less courageous flinger.

After the Oilers had been expunged in the introductory frame, the Links came in and greeted Mr. Black with a barrage of safe blows. The incomparable Eddie Moore slapped a bingle to right. Coleman hoisted a fly to Flippin, but Gunther busted No. 1 of a string of four hits, shoving Eddie to third. Skinner flied to Lyman Lamb, but Bob Snyder rammed for two sacks and Chili McDaniel and Scotty McDonald smacked line singles. Chavvy Chavez glided to first when the Oilers failed on an attempted force of Scotty at second. Rasmussen was put down on strikes for the third out, but the home gang had smeared Black with four markers, hopping off to a lead which held up to the climax in the ninth frame.

Black Knocked Off Mound.

Black emerged from the second unscathed, but the Links took him to another delightful drubbing in the third when Snyder and McDaniel led off with singles and Scotty McDonald cleaned the bases with a four-base knock which soared over the left field fence.

The Oilers perked up a bit in their slice of the third, counting three runs on a string of five blows, at least three of which were flukish and altogether undeserved. Lyman Lamb's two-baser and Jack Lelivelt's homer added two markers to the Tulsa run column in the fifth, while Lyman's circuit drive in the seventh accounted for an additional tally. Washburn's homer over the pickets in right was interjected when Lamb and Lelivelt were perched on the bases in the eighth, representing the Oilers' final accomplishment in the department of run-making.

Links Clinched Victory.

The Links clinched victory in the sixth on McDaniel's single, McDonald's double and Rasmussen's liner for one base, but reeled off a final scoring effort in the seventh when Coleman was whacked by a pitched ball and sped to the counting station on Gunther's vicious sock to right center for a pair of sacks.

Tulsa had two runners on the bases in the ninth, both getting there by virtue of Lincoln's errors, but Chavvy Chavez executed a dazzling stop of Casey's torrid grounder and hurled to Scotty at third for a force play and the final out.

Lyman's Dazzling Catch.

The ball game bristled with base hits and spectacular fielding, a diving one-mitt catch by Lyman Lamb in the middle garden representing an accomplishment of stunning brilliance.

The Isbells of Wichita headed into Lincoln Saturday for a visit of three days at Landis Field. The bill for Sunday specifies a doubleheader. First game at 2 p. m. Friday's official figures:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Tulsa's pitching staff still is wobbling. Manager Lelivelt used two flingers in winning Wednesday's game, but lost out Thursday while sending two hurlers to the firing line. Another trio toiled Friday—Black, Pence and Bolen. All were hit hard, the Links collecting eighteen safe thumps, but Bolen, youngest of the bunch, was most successful in holding down the Lincoln hitters.

Faltering support kept Rasmussen in hot water all afternoon, but the Lincoln veteran, although punished to the extent of fifteen blows, stuck to his job and hurled his most effective inning in the ninth.

A series of startling fielding performances made the ball game one of the thrillers of the Lincoln season. Lamb's diving, one-hand catch of Moore's liner in the second was a gem of purest ray, while Moore and Coleman, treading clover in the Lincoln garden, also were present with stellar catches.

Chavez, Lincoln shortstop, saved Rasmussen from threatened defeat in the ninth. After the first two Oiler hitters had been expunged, Chavez booted a grounder to McDonald followed suit. With the tieing runs on the path, the Portuguese flash trapped Casey's sizzling drive on the edge of the outfield grass and chucked to third for a force play and the final out.

Manager Jack Lelivelt of Tulsa fattened his swatting average. Facing Rasmussen five times, the Tulsa pilot rapped three singles and a homer. Lyman Lamb likewise was lugging a mean club with a single, a double and a home run in five trips to the platter.

Gunther, Lincoln's second-sacker, appropriated the slugging laurels for the home athletes, smacking three line singles and a double in five times up. Moore, Snyder, McDaniel and McDonald each stung the ball for three blows, Moore and Snyder getting a double and two singles, while McDonald's harvest included a single, a two-baser and a circuit trip.

As a general proposition, the Links can be stopped by a southpaw, but Karl Black displayed nothing that seemed to worry the home athletes. Black was pounded for five slashing blows in the first frame and the Links got to the Tulsa sidewheeler for a string of three hits in the third. As enough is quite sufficient, Manager Lelivelt waved Black off the mound and summoned Pence.

Pinch-hitters failed to accomplish anything for the Tulsa cause, Stuart swung his club for Pence in the seventh and let a sweeping curve swing over the middle of the plate for a third strike. Yank Davis, out of the game for two weeks with injuries, batted for Flippin in the ninth, trundling an easy roller to Rasmussen.

The Oilers pulled away early Friday night for Denver and were due to head into the camp of the Bears Saturday noon.

YANKS KEEP LEAD IN PARIS OLYMPIAD

Americans Retain Top Place In Points, But Finns Still In Race.

U. S. Team Hangs Up World Record In Trial Heat Of 400-Metre Relay.

U. S. STILL IN FRONT.

PARIS, July 12.—After the final of the 10,000-meter individual and team race events, the total of points for the two leaders was:
United States, 193 1-2.
Finland, 128.

ARGENTINIAN BREAKS RECORD.

COLOMBES STADIUM, July 12.—Aid came to the hard-pressed American Olympic athletes from an unexpected source today when Senor Bruneto, a dusky son of the Argentine, smashed the Olympic record in the hop, step and jump and took an almost certain first place from mighty little Finland, America's most dangerous foe.

Dashing down the path on his first trial, Bruneto hopped, stepped and jumped fifteen metres, forty-two and one-half centimetres — within ten centimetres of the world's record and more than fifty centimetres beyond the Olympic record that had stood since 1908.

Another record fell in this greatest of Olympic meets when the British 400-metre relay team flashed over the distance in 42 seconds flat, nipping two-fifths of a second off the record made by Scholz, Murchison, Kirksey and Paddock in Antwerp in 1920.

Paavo Nurmi, the wonderful Finnish runner, won the 10,000 metre cross country race, finishing 400 metres ahead of Willie Ritola, his countryman and bitter rival. It was Nurmi's third first place and established him as the greatest of all Olympic runners. Earl Johnson, American negro, won third place for Uncle Sam.

YANKEES SMASH A RECORD.

COLOMBES STADIUM, France, July 12.—The United States team broke the world's record in the 400-metre relay race, sixth trial heat, making the distance in 41 1-5 seconds, beating the new record of 42 seconds flat, made earlier in the afternoon by the British team.

The Americans raced like the wind to clip four-fifths of a second off the mark set by Great Britain in the first heat and equalled in the third heat by Holland.

The United States team was composed of Frank Hussey, Stuyvesant high of New York, the interscholastic sprint champion; Louis Clark, Johns Hopkins; Loren Murchison, Newark A. C., and Alfred Leconey, Meadowbrook club.

They ran in the order named.

Hussey, the schoolboy star, got off to flying start, and handed the baton over to Clark with a lead of five yards over France's team, the other competitor in the heat. Clark gained two yards in his turn and Murchison, on the third leg, added six more. On the final, Leconey increased the margin over France to twenty yards at the finish.

PARIS, July 12—Four more Olympic finals including the decathlon, which was started yesterday, will be decided this afternoon, together with the last of the remaining trials, leaving six finals for the all-star closing bill on Sunday, which is always the biggest sporting day of the week in France.

Finland, in second place, 80½ points behind the pace setting Americans, is still a possible winner, although far from a probable one. The American score, increased by taking second and fifth places in the 400-metre dash, the only final yesterday, now is 183½. Finland has 103 and Great Britain 60½, the latter having advanced, thanks to the record-breaking performance of Liddell in the 400 metres. Sweden has 24½, France 13½, Switzerland 11, Hungary 7½, Canada 5, Sout hAfrica 5, Norway 4, New Zealand 4 and Denmark 3½.

The Saturday Program.

Today's program is as follows:

3 p. m.—Decathlon (110 metre hurdles); running hop, step and jump, final.

3:30 p. m.—10,000 metres (cross country individual and team race) final; decathlon (throwing the discus).

3:45 p. m.—Four-hundred metre relay race (trials.)

4 p. m.—Decathlon (pole vault.)

5 p. m.—1,600-metre relay race (trials.)

5:30 p. m.—Decathlon (throwing the javelin.)

6:30 p. m.—Decathlon (1,500 metres flat.)

The 10,000-metre run provides two finals, inasmuch as it decides both the individual and team winners, the regular number of points being alloted for each first place. Thus the incomparable Finish distance runners, Paavo Nurmi and Willie Ritola, alone have an opportunity to add 25 points to their nation's score by placing first and second in this event. The United States, Great Britain and France are the only other contenders. Each nation has six starters.

Finns Threaten U. S. A.

COLOMBES STADIUM, France, July 12.—Today is the day of the Finns in Colombes Stadium and the sterling athletes of that mighty little nation have a chance to pass the United States in the matter of individual winners.

As the games got under way this morning the United States had won eight first places to six for the Finns. The latter are believed almost certain to take two of the three finals today—the hop, step and jump, the cross-country run and the decathlon.

DeHart Hubbard, American ace in the hop, step and jump, is definitely out of competition with a bruised heel. Coach Lawson Robertson wanted to substitute Ned Gourdin but the Olympic committee would not permit it, although they permitted the Finns to make a substitution for Paavo Nurmi when he was withdrawn from the 10,000 metre run.

Missouri Athlete Competes.

Marvin Graham of Kansas is the best of the remaining Americans, but he is not expected to equal the fifty-foot jumps of the Finns—Tulos and Sainee. Earl Wilson of the University of Southern California and Mack Keeble of the University of Missouri, the other American entries, are not expected to place.

America's chances in the 10,000 metre cros-country team race are bright for second, but there seems to be no chance of beating Nurmi, Ritola and their teammates for first honors.

In the decathlon, however, H. M. Osborn of Illinois A. C., and Emerson Norton of Georgetown, may finish one-two. They stood that way at the start of the final five events today. Norton led with 4,170.92 points and Osborn was second with 4,168.10. The 110-metre hurdles, the discus, pole vault, javelin and 1,500-metre run are the remaining events of the decathlon.

Today's program also includes trial heats in the 400 and 1,600-metre relay races.

Yanks May Win One Relay.

Francis Hussey of New York, Louis Clarke of John Hopkins, Loren Murchison and Alfred Leconey will make up the 400-metre team. J. O. MacDonald of Penn, Stevenson, Cochrane and Allan Helffrich are expected to cover the 1,600 metres in 3:18 or thereabouts, which will be fast enough to win.

The American catch-as-catch-can wrestlers got better than an even break in the first matches, winning five and losing four.

Attendance is still small at the games and Lloyd's may be called upon to make up a deficit. The French insured the affair for $600,000 and the gate receipts are far below that mark.

Wrestlers Do Their Stuff.

PARIS, July 12.—Charles W. Strack of Colgate, the hope of the United States in the light-heavyweight division, was eliminated from the Olympic wrestling competition today at the Velodrome d'Hiver by Courant of Switzerland in a bout which was decided on points. John F. Spellman of Brown, however, scored a victory for the Stars and Stripes in the same class over Wilson of Great Britain.

Going into the second round with Spellman are Russell Vis of Los Angeles, a light-heavyweight, H. A. Smith of the navy, middleweight, and Guy Lookabaugh of the Oklahoma A. & M. college, welterweight. They survived in the matches last night which saw the elimination of C. Milton MacWilliams of Cornell, a bantamweight, Perry Martier of Los Angeles, featherweight, and W. D. Wright of Cornell, middleweight.

R. L. Flanders of Northfield, Vt. and Harry Steele of Ohio State university, heavyweights, drew byes in the first-round bouts.

Brian Hines, Northwestern university, defeated Diller of Belgium on points in the 123-pound class, bringing America's total victories to five.

Lincoln Club Has Two Open Dates

Ball clubs in southern Nebraska and northern Kansas should communicate with the Lincoln management on the topic of scheduling the Links for exhibition games on July 21 and 21—open dates on the Clarke clan's playing program. The Links will round out their present home stay July 20, resuming their Western league schedule Wednesday, July 23, at Wichita, and will therefore be in position to perform in exhibition games July 21 and 22 while enroute to Wichita.

Club managers desiring to book the Links should communicate with Charles N. Moon, secretary Lincoln club.

Coast Stars Compete On St. Louis Court

ST. LOUIS, July 12.—To determine who of the two California stars who have survived the singles play of the national clay court tennis championship should meet the champion, William T. Tilden, of Philadelphia, in the final match, Clarence J. ("Peck") Griffin of San Francisco and Harvey Snodgrass of Los Angeles fought it out today on the courts of the Triple A club here.

LAMB SETS PACE IN WESTERN LOOP

Ex-Lincoln Sandlotter Is At Peak of the Pile In Batting Table.

Has Four-Point Margin Over Cullop of Omaha, Who Ranks Second.

Cullop of Omaha has pushed himself to second place in the batting race of the Western league with an average of .385, threatening to challenge Lamb of Tulsa, who is leading with .389. Dunning of Wichita is third with .379.

Cullop registered four home runs during the week, giving him a total of 21, which ties Davies of Tulsa and is only two removed from Washburn also of Tulsa, who is setting the pace. Washburn chalked up his 100th run, the first of the flock to reach that figure. His 23 home runs naturally cut a large figure in his scoring.

Although Corrigan of St. Joseph made a gallant attempt, he has not been getting any nearer to Smith of Wichita in stolen bases, each pilfering three which gives the Wichita speedster twenty-eight.

Other leading batters: Austin, Tulsa, .370; Lelivelt, Tulsa, .368; O'Brien, Denver, .367; Robinson, Omaha, .363; Davis, Tulsa, .363; Washburn, Tulsa, .361; Miller, St. Joseph, .361; Butler, Wichita, .355; Luderus, Oklahoma City, .355.

Falk Drives to Top.

A sensational drive that produced fourteen hits in seven games has boosted "Bib" Falk, outfielder with the Chicago White Sox, to the batting leadership of the American league with an average of .372.

Falk was fifth in the rating a week ago, with an average of .345. Although his hitting efforts were confined to spaces within fences, five of his safe blows were two-baggers. He averaged two hits a game for the last week and is showing no inclination to relinquish the lead.

Babe Ruth is clinging to second place with an average of .365, with Jamieson of Cleveland third with .363. The idle Boone of Boston is up among the pace-makers with .351, followed by Cobb of Detroit in fifth place with .345. Goslin of Washington and Sheely of Chicago have been doing some telling work with their bats and Harry Heilmann of the Tigers, who set the pace almost since the start of the season, is getting no worse.

Ruth Adds to Homer Total.

Ruh added two home runs to his collection, bringing it up to twenty-two. He is in no apparent danger of being overtaken, as he is eight ahead of Ken Williams of St. Louis and Hauser of Philadelphia.

Collins of Chicago has not much competition on the bases, the White Sox captain having pilferred 21, the figures including fgames of last Wednesday.

Other leading batters: Goslin, Washington, 344; Sheely, Chicago, .338; Hielmann, Detroit,, .337; Prothro, Washington, .333; Mostil, Chicago, .332; Meusel, New York, .331; Collins, Boston, .331.

Hornsby Still High Man.

The hitting in the National league has been consistent, if not sensational. The leaders remain undisturbed, with Hornsby of St. Louis showing the way with .392. Wheat of Brooklyn is batting second with .379, and Snyder of the Giants third with .354. Kelley, also of the Giants, is fourth with .351.

Bressler of Cincinnati grabbed off a flock of hits before Daubert returned to the game and the substitute first-sacker of the Reds therefore figures among the first five with .346.

Although Fournier of Brooklyn has been swinging a mean club in long distance hitting, he has sagged in general average. Fournier has connected with 17 homers, while Williams of Philadelphia and Hornsby are tied for second honors with nine apiece.

Carey of Pittsburgh has been setting a sensational pace in base stealing, leading with twenty, with Grantham of Chicago second with seventeen.

Other leading batters: Gowdy, New York, .346; Youngs, New York, .345; Roush, Cincinnati, .345; Fournier, Brooklyn, .337; Grisby, Chicago, .335; Grantham, Chicago, .326; Frisch, New York, .325.

OMAHA, Neb., July 12.—Pitchers Bailey and Dailey were soft marks for Oklahoma City batters yesterday, while Pitcher May was a puzzle to the home sluggers ,and the visitors won the final game of the series, 9 to 2. The Indians fielded without error. The score:

HERE AND THERE IN BASEBALL

TWO GAMES SUNDAY.

Lincoln fans will have a double serving of Sunday baseball—Links vs. Wichita at Landis Field; first game at 2 p. m.

Manager Josh and his athletes have been pulling some of the winning stuff of late, grabbing four of eight while playing five of the eight on foreign soil. New owners of the Links have been making appreciable headway on their campaign to strengthen the club; they purpose to stick on the job of bidding for new talent, and, judging from recent performances, the Links seem to be destined to move to a higher station in the percentage reckoning.

A representative Sunday attendance, if not a packed house, would accomplish a two-fold purpose —it would prove to the new owners that Lincoln appreciates their efforts to rebuild and reorganize the club; it would help to anchor Western league baseball in this town.

Links Excelled In Hitting.

The Tulsa Oilers, with a ponderous team batting average well above the .300 mark, weren't "such a much" with their bats during the series in Lincoln terminating Friday. As a matter of fact, the lowly Links outswatted the Oilers in every game. Official statistics for the series disclose that the Oilers had a healthy margin in the fielding, perpetrating one error while the Links were committing ten blunders, but in stick work the Links had all the better of the comparison. The batting record for the three games follows:

Team batting—	AB	R	H	Pct.
Lincoln	113	20	38	.336
Tulsa	114	19	32	.286

Eddie Moore, who dazzles in the center garden for the Links practically every day, was a prime factor in the batting supremacy of the home gang during the series with the Oilers. Eddie was at bat 13 times, scoring four runs and making seven hits for an average of .538.

Fred Gunther, second-sacker for the Links, compiled a fancy record in Friday's fray. The score book shows that Gunther handled five putouts and four assists without a skip and mauled the ball for three singles and a double in five times at bat. Every one of Gunther's blows was a line drive.

Omaha Headed for Pennant.

Evidences are unmistakable that the Denver Bears, pace-makers during the first two months of the pennant pursuit in the Western, have slipped—and probably slipped for keeps. The Bears were fortunate to take three of five games from the Links recently, as the Clarke clan dropped two games while outhitting the Grizzlies by a snug margin. In the series with Wichita, ending Friday, the Bears were bumped in two of the three starts—a pace that won't get the Denver club anywhere in its campaign to overcome the fast-going Omaha club. Judging the Burch family from the gait it has been traveling during the past month, Omaha will flaunt that flag. Barney Burch has a ball club that is strong in pitching and hitting, but only so-so in fielding. While Denver has the edge in fielding the pitching and slugging advantage possessed by Omaha should be sufficient to win the bunting for the Nebraska metropolis.

Regardless of the fact that Washburn and Davis of the Tulsa club have compiled a fat string of homers, the two most dangerous hitters in the Western loop are Osborne and Cullop, swatting aces of the Omaha lineup. Cullop and Osborne would hit in any park, while Washburn and Davis are dependable only at the home yard, where a cigar box ball park makes home runs easy. As Omaha will have the long end of its games at the home yard during the final half of the race, while the Oilers must perform mostly on the road, the odds clearly favor the tribe of Burch.

Indians Buy and Sell.

Jack Holland, boss of the Oklahoma City Indians, has sold Outfielder Jim Sweeney, a dissatisfied player, to the Kansas City Blues. While disposing of Sweeney, Holland has acquired two pitchers and an outfielder from the defunct Oklahoma State league, which went on the rocks a few days ago. Sweeney goes to Kansas City on a thirty days' trial.

Pete Casey, former Nebraska leaguer with Norfolk, is the handy man of the Tulsa salary roster. Pete disports in the garden, back of the plate and at the first sack whenever a substitute is required. And Pete is doing his stuff in class A style. In fact, "Cy" Logsdon, Tulsa baseball scribe with the Oilers in Lincoln this week, asserts that Casey is rated as Tulsa's best bet for a sale to faster company this fall.

Senators Taking Yankee Dust.

New York American baseball stock, which slumped below Washington on the major league board almost three weeks ago and at one time sank as low as third place, finally has recovered and Yankee shareholders today are rejoicing in the hope of championship dividends. For the past few days the Senators have been the victims of a raid by the Detroit Tigers and are now clinging to second place by a one-game margin.

Mangum and Grabowski, American association recruits of the White Sox, in an effort to even the series with the Yanks convinced Manager Evers in three innings that minor league stars are often major league lemons. Lyons and Schalk succeeded the rookies, but the champions won a 12 to 9 victory. Ruth hit his twenty-fourth homer.

Walter Johnson, after holding Detroit to two hits until the eighth, weakened and Washington lost a 4 to 3 decision to the Tigers.

St. Louis ousted Chicago from fourth place by splitting a twin bill with Boston. The Browns won the first, 8 to 1, and lost the second, 7 to 6.

Three Cleveland pitchers suffered a terrific lacing as the Philadelphia Athletics hammered out a 10 to 1 triumph over the Indians. Manager Speaker was banished from the game in the sixth and from the bench in the seventh for disputing Umpire Dineen's decisions on balls and strikes.

Giants Walk On Cardinals.

By scoring five times in the tenth inning the Giants chalked up a 10 to 5 victory over St. Louis. Kelly's homer accounted for two of the quintet in the final frame.

Badly in need of a victory to keep within hailing distance of Chicago, Brooklyn elected Dazzy Vance to bear the pitching burden and the speed king did his stuff to the extent of 9 to 1 victory.

Cooper salted away his fifth straight win as Pittsburgh trounced Boston, 8 to 2, and broke even on the series.

A 6 to 0 shutout gave Cincinnati the fourth victory in a five-game series with Philadelphia.

Isbells Pound Ball; Win Odd From Bears

DENVER, Colo., July 12.—While Howard Gregory was holding the Bears to seven scattered hits yesterday, Wichita batters pounded Voorhies and Pigg for 18 safe blows, the visitors annexing the odd game of the series, 10 to 3. Haley's batting again was a feature, the Wichita shortstop poling five hits and running his string to ten successive safe blows in the past two games. The score:

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 8 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

The arm, wrist and body action with an iron club is the same, in taking the club back, as for the woods, though the irons, being shorter, the swing is somewhat snappier. This slight difference in the speed of the swing makes the iron stroke a hit while the wood stroke is a swing, which is the only way one differs from the other.

You take the iron back exactly as you do the wood—shift the weight and keep the blade low to the ground. See that the left wrist stays right in line with the shaft and that the left arm reaches inward toward the body, not outward. If you reach outward with the arm the forearm probably will roll to the right and spoil the stroke. When the blade is well back from the ball the blade should still face directly toward the ball, showing that the left wrist and left forearm have exerted no influence as yet on the position of the blade. The idea is to keep the blade in its position of direct right angles to the ball as much as you possibly can throughout the entire stroke. When it is well back from the ball and still facing the ball, break the blade directly up, slowly, with the right wrist—and observe by watching its path how it remains in its position of direct angles to the ball. That is what you want in your actual play.
